WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says "the war could be stopped in a matter of days" if South Vietnam's president talks informally with South Vietnamese Communists and wins their agreement to abide by the Geneva accords.

And on curing violence at home, Johnson says he's going to tell American businessmen either they help in hiring a half million hard-core unemployed or the government will offer them jobs—"as expensive as it is."

Johnson spoke hopefully of "good results" through Saigon talks with members of the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong political arm, during a wide-ranging pre-televised television broadcast nationally Tuesday night as he winged toward Australia.

Johnson outlined five peace conditions based on existing U.S. demands that North Vietnam "leave your neighbor alone." They included an end to Hanoi infiltration through Laos and the Demilitarized Zone, in accord with the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements; one man-one vote government in the South and peaceful negotiations for North-South reunification.

Chatting earnestly and leaning forward occasionally in his rocking chair as he stressed a point, Johnson also made these observations:

"I don't know what the effect of the Kennedy-McCarthy movement is having in the country" but "I do know of the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them—I see that reflected from time to time."

While Johnson again declined to say whether he'll seek re-election, he said he's sure the Republicans will still wind up in the minority on election day.

He is going to appeal to every Republican in Congress to "do what is best for his country" and "I am going to do what I think is best for my country, at home and abroad, without regard to what effect it has on my future."

Business and production will pick up next year and "we look forward to continued prosperity." But he called still essential the administration's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

U.S. policy toward Europe has recorded more success during 1967 than in any other period. Accomplishments range from the new tariff agreements to revamping of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Johnson is sorry about his differences with French President Charles de Gaulle, but says relations between the American and French people remain friendly.

The Middle East still presents "one of our most dangerous situations" and will require efforts by all parties concerned to achieve a solution. The United States has a "very definite interest in Israel" but not a mutual security treaty commitment to defend her.

On what he termed the No. 1 subject for U.S. government leaders, a continuing search for a Vietnam peace, Johnson said the solution will not come from administration critics like Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Vance Hartke, D-Ind., or Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y.

"This peace is going to be found by the leadership of South Vietnam, the people of South Vietnam, in South Vietnam," he said.

Johnson served notice of his forthcoming call on U.S. businessmen as he talked at length about causes and cures for the summer riots that erupted in cities across the land.

Declaring violence comes from a people who have been held down for many years and want quickly what is due them, the Chief Executive said the underprivileged need jobs, health, education and housing to realize their hopes.

Johnson said Congress has not made enough progress on housing legislation. Deficiencies in education and health are being speedily corrected, he said.

Viet War Action Slackens; More Troops Arrive

SAIGON (AP) — Foul weather gave Hanoi respite today from U.S. air raids that had been largely centered around the North Vietnamese capital since last Thursday, U.S. officers reported. Most strikes were limited to the southern panhandle.

Pilots returning from missions Tuesday said they shot down two more of the MIGs that have challenged them in fierce dogfights during the unusually clear skies in a season when monsoon storm clouds normally veil North Vietnam's heart land.

Two other Soviet-designed jets were reported probably destroyed.

The U.S. 11th Infantry Brigade, made up of 4,300 jungle fighters, arrived by ship at Qui Nhon for duty in South Vietnam. This followed up the arrival of the bulk of two fresh brigades of the 101st Airborne Division last week in the biggest Pacific airlift of the war, part of a buildup toward a roll of 525,000 by next June.

At one point last week about 475,000 American servicemen were reported in Vietnam, exceeding the 472,800 committed to Korea at the peak of the Korean War in 1953.

There was an unusually heavy movement home for Christmas, however, of troops who had completed their tours of duty and the U.S. Command listed the total in Vietnam as of last Saturday midnight at 470,000.

Debarcation of the infantry brigade again pushed the unofficial estimate of troop strength here past the Korean peak.

Pilots who raided the Hanoi area said the city's principal bridge—the 19-span Paul Doumer Bridge across the Red River—was battered beyond use. They reported eight spans were down and three more were damaged.

The bridge is one of two over which all road and rail traffic from Red China to Hanoi must pass and is the principal artery for munition and war supplies moved by land.

There was no estimate of how long it would take to get the bridge functioning again. But intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese have been working during the past month of cloud cover to build pontoon bridges and bamboo structures which could be quickly floated into place as substitutes.

U.N. Meeting Is Recessed

Approve Treaty On Astronauts
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly recessed for about three months early today after a session overshadowed by two crises it never came to grips with—the Middle East and Vietnam.

The 123-nation assembly also failed to conclude a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons because the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva couldn't nail down all points at issue. But the assembly hoped to have a treaty waiting for it in the spring.

The final day was highlighted by a bright note. The assembly gave unanimous approval to a treaty providing for the rescue and safe return of astronauts forced to land on foreign soil.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called the vote "an historic action" and one of the major achievements of the assembly. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the agreement would "have great importance in connection with speedy progress in space technology."

The Middle East was on the assembly agenda, but there was no debate because the Security Council was dealing with the issue. But the Arab-Israeli conflict so distracted delegates that the assembly had to suspend virtually all business until the council finally agreed on a resolution.

Ohioan Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Pfc. Kenneth H. Carpenter of Cleveland has been killed in recent action in Vietnam, the Defense Department reports.

Edward L. Smith Dies in Florida

Mr. Edward L. Smith died Monday, Dec. 18, at his winter home, W. Palm Beach, Fla.

A prominent Pickaway County farmer he resided throughout his life at Sunnyside Farm, Route 1, on the Kingston Pike.

Born in Pickaway County, he was the son of Joseph and Mary Corcoran Smith. He attended St. Joseph School in Circleville and graduated from Mt. St. Joseph College in Baltimore, Md.

He was a veteran of World War I where he served aboard the USS Huron with the U. S. Navy.

He is survived by four sisters: Miss Mary Smith, Miss Elizabeth Smith and Mrs. Margaret Rarey all of Route 1, Circleville and Mrs. Hudson Jeffrey of Ironton.

Johnson Approves Cuts in Spending

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — President Johnson complied with a congressional order and took action today that will lead to a spending cut of $4.3 billion. It could also lead to congressional enactment of a tax increase next year.

Johnson signed the spending-cut resolution on his plane as he winged to this tiny island territory from Honolulu, en route to Australia to pay final tribute to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt.

The President noted Congress had pared appropriations by $1.8 billion and vowed he would follow its directive to cut an additional $2.5 billion because of the need to preserve the strength of the dollar.

In the recently concluded session of Congress, the spending cut was made a condition of passage of Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee.

And while the tax bill died, Mills has made clear the same condition would apply when the surcharge proposal is brought up again in January.

Johnson addressed several thousand cheering spectators, mostly children, and a couple dozen antiwar demonstrators at Honolulu.

Marijuana Raid Made in Cleveland
CLEVELAND (AP)—A mother and her son, a Vietnam War veteran, were arrested Tuesday in what authorities said was the biggest marijuana raid in Cleveland in at least two years.

Arraigned on charges of possession of marijuana were Mrs. Alberta Crabbe and her son, Samuel A. Young. Both were held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

Asst. U.S. Attorney Robert J. Rotatori said Young, a Navy veteran, shipped the marijuana home shortly before he finished a tour in Vietnam recently.

Expect Yule Highway Toll Of 625-725

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today between 625 and 725 persons may die in Christmas holiday week-end traffic, half of the number in crashes in which liquor will be a factor.

The period covered by the estimate will extend from 6 p.m. local time Friday until midnight Monday, Christmas day.

"Somewhere in the neighborhood of 375 Americans are likely to die from traffic accidents related in some way to alcohol," William G. Johnson, council general manager, said in a statement.

"Probing a variety of fatal crashes, researchers in several states agree generally that the rate of alcohol involvement reaches—or surpasses—50 per cent," Johnson said.

The council also estimated 29,000 to 34,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries from Christmas holiday crashes. Statisticians said travel would probably total about 7.9 billion vehicle miles compared with about 7.6 billion during a nonholiday period of equal length.

The last three Christmases provided three-day weekends. In 1966 there were 600 traffic fatalities, in 1965 a record 720 and in 1964 there were 596. During a normal nonholiday period of identical length the count would be about 500.

Fumes Blamed In 3 Deaths

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Carbon monoxide fumes from a swimming pool heater were blamed in a report released today for the deaths Nov. 19 of three guests at the Yankee Clipper Inn north of here.

The report, signed by Summit County Prosecutor James Barbutto and Coroner A. H. Kyriakides, said source of the deadly fumes was a basement heater used to heat water for the hotel's outside swimming pool.

Bruce Plagman, 22, of Cleveland, a bridegroom of less than a day, Miss Betty Ann Bishop, 50, a dance school owner, and her sister, Miss Mary Bishop, 56, a registered nurse, both of Elyria, Ohio, died from the fumes.

Man Convicted In Child Killing

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Harvey M. Armstrong is awaiting sentence for second-degree murder in the death of his common law wife's 5-year-old daughter.

A Summit County Common Pleas Court jury convicted Armstrong Tuesday after deliberating more than six hours, but the judge delayed sentence pending motion for a new trial.

Armstrong, 30, faces life imprisonment with eligibility for parole after 10 years.

He was accused of fatally beating Marjorie Rhea, daughter of Velma Rhea, in September, 1964, while he and Mrs. Rhea were living here. They moved to Kansas in March, 1965.

The measure would replace districts upset last month by the U.S. Supreme

Solons Adopt Building Code

City Council Tuesday night adopted a Building Code for Circleville following a third reading and lengthy discussion.

The ordinance passed in spite of objections lodged by J. B. Stout, prominent local builder, and Boyd Horn, fourth ward councilman. Remainder of the solons cast affirmative votes for the code.

Stout noted that a building code is a good thing for a city, but termed the local proposal a "bucket of worms." He said during the past year there were as many homes built outside the city as there were within the city limits. Therefore, the builder said, efforts should be made to cooperate with the county in adopting a uniform code.

He pointed out that a national organization for home builders (of which he is a member) recommends that smaller cities defer from adopting a code. He compared the legislation to marriage by saying that "once it's done, it's difficult to get out of."

THE local builder also noted there would be a problem of enforcement since inspections would have to be done by a qualified man and the city could only afford a part-time inspector. Finance Chairman Frank Barnhill later agreed with Stout that the city could not stand the costs. Barnhill said he was confronted with "mixed emotions concerning the code." However, he voted in favor of it.

City Police, Firemen Get Pay Raises

Circleville Mayor Ben H. Gordon refrained from signing into law ordinances adopted by City Council Tuesday night.

Nine of the ordinances determined the salaries of city employees for next year as well as appropriations for the General Fund.

Mayor Gordon, who may exercise his power of veto, took the ordinances with him to "look them over for a few days." He has until Dec. 29, to sign the ordinances making them law.

Two of the ordinances which will increase salaries of policemen and firemen will be signed, Gordon noted. The legislation gives a $800 across the board raise to policemen and a $720 raise to firemen.

THE mayor's only objections involved the lack of concern by the Finance Committee in giving salary increase to elected officials.

It was noted today that elected officials' salaries cannot be changed once the person is in office. In some cases this is four years, others only two.

Ordinances adopted by council last night would increase the city auditor's salary by $500 and the solicitor's salary from $3,600 to $5,000.

Frank Barnhill, finance committee chairman, said he would support the ordinance.

Romney Eyes Viet Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today his tour of five European capitals, including a long talk with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, "has encouraged me to believe in the possibility of finding a political solution" for the Vietnam war.

"A satisfactory solution for Vietnam must be found in not purely military but also political means," Romney said as he left Moscow for Israel.

"Broadly speaking, on my European trip I found uncertainty and concern about our foreign policy," said Romney, who has visited Warsaw, Paris, Bonn and London, as well as Moscow.

"In none of my talks," Romney said, "has there been any criticism on my part of American policy in Vietnam."

"I have stressed in Europe that the 1968 elections will not result in the lessening of our determination to find a Vietnam solution satisfactory to both sides."

The governor added that there will be "no abandonment of Vietnam, no withdrawal."

No Aussie Policy Shift, McEwen Says

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Interim Prime Minister John McEwen said today that the death of Prime Minister Harold E. Holt does not alter the Australian government's commitment to stand firmly beside its allies in Vietnam.

"We will share their efforts and agonies," McEwen told his first news conference after his swearing in. About 6,000 Australian troops are fighting in Vietnam.

Preparations continued at an accelerated pace for the arrival of President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other foreign leaders flying to Australia for a memorial service in Melbourne Friday for Holt, who disappeared last weekend while swimming in the surf off the southeast coast.

The chiefs of state or government heads of all seven of the anti-Communist allies in the Vietnam war were to be on hand for the Melbourne service, and it was obvious that the war would be discussed, at least informally.

There was speculation that President Johnson would return home via Vietnam for a brief pre-Christmas visit to the troops, but this was neither confirmed nor denied.

Prime Minister Wilson was being accompanied to Australia by 19-year-old Prince Charles, designated by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, to represent her at the service. It was the first such assignment for the heir to the throne, who spent a term at an Australian school last year.

U.N. Meeting Is Recessed

Approve Treaty On Astronauts

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly recessed for about three months early today after a session overshadowed by two crises it never came to grips with—the Middle East and Vietnam.

The 123-nation assembly also failed to conclude a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons because the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva couldn't nail down all points at issue. But the assembly hoped to have a treaty waiting for it in the spring.

The final day was highlighted by a bright note. The assembly gave unanimous approval to a treaty providing for the rescue and safe return of astronauts forced to land on foreign soil.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called the vote "an historic action" and one of the major achievements of the assembly. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the agreement would "have great importance in connection with speedy progress in space technology."

The Middle East was on the assembly agenda, but there was no debate because the Security Council was dealing with the issue. But the Arab-Israeli conflict so distracted delegates that the assembly had to suspend virtually all business until the council finally agreed on a resolution.

Fumes Blamed In 3 Deaths

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Carbon monoxide fumes from a swimming pool heater were blamed in a report released today for the deaths Nov. 19 of three guests at the Yankee Clipper Inn north of here.

The report, signed by Summit County Prosecutor James Barbuti and Coroner A. H. Kyriakides, said source of the deadly fumes was a basement heater used to heat water for the hotel's outdoor swimming pool.

Bruce Plagman, 22, of Cleveland, a bridegroom of less than a day, Miss Betty Ann Bishop, 50, a dance school owner, and her sister, Miss Mary Bishop, 56, a registered nurse, both of Elyria, Ohio, died from the fumes.

Man Convicted In Child Killing

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Harvey M. Armstrong is awaiting sentence for second-degree murder in the death of his common law wife's 5-year-old daughter.

A Summit County Common Pleas Court jury convicted Armstrong Tuesday after deliberating more than six hours, but the judge delayed sentence pending motion for a new trial.

Armstrong, 39, faces life imprisonment with eligibility for parole after 10 years.

He was accused of fatally beating Marjorie Rhea, daughter of Velma Rhea, in September, 1964, while he and Mrs. Rhea were living here. They moved to Kansas in March, 1965.

Demos Accept Rhodes Plan

By STEPHEN H. MILLER
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Though calling it a "sham" and a disappointment, Democratic leaders Saturday promised reluctant support of a congressional redistricting proposal unveiled Monday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

House Minority Whip John C. McDonald of Newark told a joint legislative committee charged with drawing new districts that Democrats would not block the plan if it were left unchanged.

The measure would replace districts upset earlier this month by the U.S. Supreme Court, which said populations of existing districts in Ohio were too uneven to comply with the "one man, one vote" principle.

The committee, which recessed until Jan. 5 without taking any action, was warned by William Van Tilberg of the State Attorney General's Office that federal courts would not accept districts less evenly drawn than those in the administration proposal.

Van Tilberg was on the task force which produced the plan leveling populations in 24 proposed districts to within one per cent of each other.

"It would be virtually impossible to devise a plan that had a lesser percentage of deviation from the 1960 census, even though many districts vary drastically from one another based on current population figures," McDonald said.

McDonald added that the plan did not seem to jeopardize Democrat incumbents, although in fell short "of the standard of political fairness that we had hoped would be incorporated into any proposal."

Burglary Try Thwarted by Deputy Sheriff

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Richard Clark discovered an unidentified man in the act of breaking into the American Legion Post on Route 23 at 4:30 a. m. Wednesday.

When the man spotted the deputy, he fled across the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks and went south.

Deputy Clark, with the aid of Circleville Police, was able to track the man southward and back to 23 when they lost the trail.

A further investigation indicated that another person may have been at the scene, Clark said. He found an iron bar near the rear door of the legion home which was apparently being used to gain entry into the building.

20 Cases Heard by Muny Court

Charges of traffic violations were heard in Municipal Court Tuesday against nine local and 11 out-of-county motorists.

David Cooper, 24, Ashville, forfeited a $24 bond set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Roy E. Schwalbach, 30, of 425 Avon Drive, forfeited a $19 bond set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Robert Melvin, 25, Route 3, was charged with speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone and failure to transfer auto registration.

He forfeited a $19 bond set on the first and a $24 bond set on the second charge.

Charles Kiser Jr., 25, Ashville, forfeited a $19 bond set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Chancey Edmunds, 44, Ashville, was charged with failure to display red lights on an exterior load. He forfeited a $24 bond.

Herbert Haller, 39, Mt. Sterling, forfeited a $34 bond set on charges of failure to display license plates.

Larry Turner, 25, of 535 Union St., pleaded no contest to charges of failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead. He was fined $25 and costs.

Shirley Gilpen, 28, Mt. Sterling, pleaded guilty to charges of driving without a license and driving without due regard to the safety and rights of others. She was fined $50 and costs on each charge with $25 of the last fine suspended.

Leonard Massie Jr., 22, Williamsport, pleaded not guilty to charges of driving without due regard for the safety and rights of others. He was fined $50 and costs.

The court collected $288 in fines and bond forfeitures from out-of-county residents.

Two Civil Suits Are Dismissed

Two civil suits were dismissed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court by the plaintiffs without record.

The General Motors Acceptance Corporation dismissed a collection action against David O. Dennis, New Holland, in the amount of $1,757.68.

An appeal of a Bureau of Workman's Compensation ruling was dismissed by John Fridley when a settlement was reached out of court.

Change Set In Reading of Gas Meters

A new system of modern computerized billing will make it possible for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., to read meters of Circleville area customers every other month, rather than monthly, and continue to send each customer monthly bills for gas service, C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for the gas company, said today.

Mr. Baker explained that under this new system, every second month's gas bill will be individually calculated on electronic computers.

"Every month for the past year and a half, in preparation for this change, the gas company has calculated each customer's gas bill, and then checked the result against the bill obtained through the actual meter reading," Baker said. "This enabled the company to perfect the formula that will be used to calculate bills."

"This computation will use each customer's record of actual gas usage over the 13 previous months, adjusted by the effect of warmer or colder weather conditions and the number of days in the billing period. Each customer's account will be verified automatically the following month by an actual meter reading," Baker said.

He said that the new program will include residential and small commercial customers and will be gradually adopted throughout the gas company's 61-county operating area in Ohio during 1968 and 1969. It will go into effect in the Circleville area Jan. 1, 1969.

"Actually, the gas company has sent calculated bills to customers for several years in months when it has been impossible to gain access to meters," Baker said.

"Today, gas rates for Ohio homes are among the lowest in the nation, and we want to keep them that way," he pointed out. "The new bi-monthly meter reading program eventually will save an estimated half million dollars a year in operating costs throughout the company's distribution area in Ohio. It is another in a series of programs adopted by the gas company to help hold the line against rising costs."

John T. Davis Receives Ph.D.

John T. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis of 120 Montclair Ave., received a Ph. D. Saturday from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The doctorate was received in classical languages — Latin and Greek.

Two previous degrees he received leading to the Ph.D. were A.B. in 1964 and a Master's degree in 1965, both from the University of Michigan. Dr. Davis is currently an associate professor at Ohio State University, Columbus, where he teaches classical languages.

Mary Strausbaugh, Kingston, escaped serious injury 1 a. m. today when she lost control of her car, careening it on the Ross - Pickaway County Line Road south of Whisler.

The car was demolished. Mrs. Strausbaugh sustained an abrasion of the neck. She told Pickaway Deputy Sheriff James Lockard she lost control of the vehicle trying to avoid hitting a small animal that darted onto the road.

Columbus Eyes Building Complex

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—City officials and the Downtown Area Committee have been briefed by consultants on a proposed project for construction of a $30 million hotel-convention hall and indoor arena complex recommended for downtown Columbus.

The consultants suggested the complex be constructed on a square bounded by High, Third, Town and Rich streets. Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner said a special committee would be formed to implement the recommendation.

Heart Transplant Patient Washkansky Said Better

By DAVID J. PAINE
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The condition of heart transplant patient Louis Washkansky, 53, deteriorated today, a bulletin issued by Groote Schuur Hospital said.

City Police,

committee felt the auditor was "due for a raise."

The solicitor's salary increase came after much study, Barnhill said. Solicitor-elect Charles Hosterman had requested a "straight $15 per hour" salary when he takes over in January. Barnhill noted that he and his committee felt this would be "entirely out of line." The $5,000 annual salary for solicitor in Circleville is "more than ample," Barnhill said.

The finance chairman said that each member of council was polled concerning salary increases for elected officials and it was unanimous to retain the present salaries for mayor, treasurer and council members.

THE mayor now gets $1,500 per year (the last raise was granted in 1949); the treasurer gets $700; and councilmen get $800 each.

The General Fund appropriations ordinance also listed the municipal judge's salary at $10,000; acting judges $1,000; clerk $4,400; deputy clerk $3,400; bailiff $3,500.

Appropriated for regular police and provisional appointees was $78,200; for regular and special firemen $70,000; service director $4,400; safety director $1,023; health commissioner $1,650.

The total, which includes everything from salaries and supplies to insurance and utilities, was $332,278.30. Estimated resources were listed at $332,278.30 leaving a balance unappropriated of $130.15 in the General Fund.

The Street Construction, Maintenance and Repair Fund had a total of $107,524 in appropriations which includes $37,024 in payroll. There is a balance of $888.37 unappropriated.

Total appropriated from the Waterworks Operating Fund was $172,343.50 with estimated resources of $304,350.75 leaving a balance of $132,007.25.

SANITARY Sewer Improvement Fund has estimated resources of $90,151.90 and appropriations of $79,226.50 leaving a balance of $10,925.40.

Following is a rundown on each of the ordinances fixing the salaries of city employees pending Mayor Gordon's signature.

POLICE DEPT.
Police chief $6,888; police sergeants beginning at $6,024 with up to $6,324 after five years; police patrolmen beginning at $5,712 up to three years at $5,964; overtime rates were also listed ranging from $2.52 per hour to $2.78 per hour.

FIRE DEPT.
Fire chief $6,744 annually; fire lieutenants beginning at $5,868 up to $6,060 after three years; firemen beginning at $5,488 up to $5,808 after three years; overtime rates were set from a minimum of $2.06 up to $2.29.

WATER WORKS
Dept. of Sewage
Manager of Public Utilities $9,500 ($6,380 from the Dept. of Water and $3,120 from the Dept. of Sewage); bookkeeper cashier $4,800; assistant bookkeeper cashier $3,300; chairman of the board $300; board members $200; operators, meter readers and maintenance personnel ranging from $4,800 per year to $6,000 per year for the chief operator at the sewage plant.

HEALTH DEPT.
Health nurse $4,500; health commissioner $1,950; health board clerk $3,600; city sanitarian $1,800.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION
Secretary $150 per year; each of three members $75.

The worsening situation followed a statement earlier in the day to Radio South Africa by Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the heart transplant team, that Washkansky had shown improvement.

Earlier today a hospital bulletin said there was no change in Washkansky's condition and he "is still seriously ill." But the doctors Tuesday night said he had made a slight gain after a transfusion of white blood cells.

A spokesman for the team of 30 specialists caring for the 53-year-old wholesale grocer said they would probably repeat the treatment to provide Washkansky with more of the white cells that combat infection.

A sharp decrease in his white corpuscle count Tuesday indicated to physicians that Washkansky's body was acting against its own tissue more than against the borrowed heart he received 17 days ago.

Until he took a turn for the worse over the weekend, Washkansky had made a startling show of robustness since the heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in an auto accident was implanted in his chest Dec. 3.

The white cell transfusion, gathered from the blood of four donors, was made on the recommendation of a French blood cancer specialist who reported the treatment had remarkable results in some cases.

Washkansky's physicians were working virtually in the unknown on the world's first human heart recipient, and Dr. M.C. Botha, the team's chief pathologist, acknowledged they were "playing this by ear."

"We were very well aware of this danger of rejection before the operation and have lived every day since the operation with the awareness that some form or other of rejection was a strong possibility," he said.

The surgical team had taken hope from the report of an American surgeon, Dr. T.E. Starzl, who Botha said encountered similar rejection circumstances in kidney transplants. Most of the kidney patients Starzl treated at the Veterans

Man Pleads Guilty to Non-Support

Teddy Lee Prushing, London, indicted by the September term of the Grand Jury for non-support, entered a plea of guilty in a common pleas court hearing Tuesday.

Judge William Ammer placed Prushing on probation for three years.

Today, Donald Kerns and Donald Hashman, both of Circleville, appeared before the judge on a bill of information.

Charges of grand larceny filed against the pair were reduced to petit larceny by Judge Ammer and the two were sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

Judge Ammer ordered they be given credit on their jail sentences for time already served.

Turner also noted that the code does not become effective until July 1, 1968, and therefore would give city officials time to work with the county commissioners in preparing a similar code for the areas outside the city limits.

Council was told by the commissioners that the "city would have to act first." The legislation was first introduced in November.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
FOLLOWING last night's session, one of the longest of the year, council said farewell to its president, W. Harold Clifton; to long-time Mayor Ben H. Gordon; to First Ward Councilman Frank Barnhill; and to Solicitor Kenneth Robbins.

Joe Bell, councilman-at-large, will take over the president's chair next month. Clifton had occupied the chair for eight years in addition to being on council for six years. Richard L. Gerhardt will be the new mayor; Dr. David Goldschmidt will replace Barnhill and O. Charles Hosterman will be the new solicitor.

Barnhill urged councilmen to pursue the institution of a purchase order and requisition system next year in his absence.

The solons confirmed an appointment by Mayor Gordon of Dr. E. L. Montgomery to the Board of Governors of Berger Hospital. The term is to expire May 31, 1970. Gordon earlier appointed Attorney E. L. Crist on the board.

The reports Tuesday came after a federal grand jury indicted former Water Commissioner James L. Marcus and a reputed Cosa Nostra leader in an alleged $40,000 kickback on an $800,000 city contract.

Mayor John V. Lindsay told a news conference Tuesday that if the federal charge against Marcus were true, "then it's clear that Mr. Marcus lied to me."

"To say I have been ill served and the public also is an understatement," he said of the worst scandal in his two-year Republican administration. "I consider this a betrayal of a personal and public trust."

Lindsay declared that he fired Marcus, his friend and a key aide, after Marcus became the object of an investigation by Hogan's office. The letter of resignation was worded to appear voluntary.

The mayor said it would be improper for him to comment on reports that other city departments were being investigated.

Marcus, 37, was indicted with Cosa Nostra bigwig Antonio "Tony Ducks" Corallo and four other men Monday on charges of conspiring to violate federal anti-racketeering laws.

Corallo posted $10,000 bond and the others were freed without bond pending a hearing. The maximum penalty upon conviction for each defendant is five years in federal prison and a $10,000 fine.

day he would support the plan if adopted, though he considered it "an absolute sham" and a "public relations gimmick for the governor."

Meanwhile, House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-4 Wood would not commit himself.

"I'm not backing off from the plan—I have never embraced it," he said.

Kurfess told newsmen after the hearing that he would urge house support, however, for any plan approved by the committee.

Republican leaders in Hamilton County also are unhappy with the Rhodes plan. The county now has two Congressional districts — the First and the Second. Under the Rhodes plan, parts of both districts would be joined to the adjoining Sixth and 24th districts.

And both of the affected GOP congressmen, Robert Taft Jr., of the First District and Donald D. Clancy of the Second, have expressed dissatisfaction with the plan.

Taft, whose home would end up a mile from the new Sixth District boundary, attacked what he called Supreme Court's "technical nit-picking" in ordering the redistricting.

"There are factors other than population numbers that are not recognized by the court," he said. "For example, the affinity of residents to a metropolitan area."

County Receives Welfare Funds

Pickaway County received $19,477 in public assistance subsidy payments from the state of Ohio this month.

These funds are turned over to the county auditor to pay the administrative costs of the welfare programs and the state's share of general relief programs.

Highest amount of funds released this month was $1,438,394 to Cuyahoga County and a low of $509 was paid to Vinton County.

Assistance subsidy payments to all the counties during the past six months totals $26 million. The nine more populous of Ohio's 76 counties received 73.9 per cent of the state-wide distributions.

Bridge Disaster Brings U.S. Probe

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — Small boats continued to drag the Ohio River today downstream from the collapsed suspension bridge here while divers attempted to free wrecked autos from the mangled steel and concrete 40 feet under water.

The divers use torches to cut the sunken steel girders into workable lengths, which are then hauled up by 100-ton floating derricks. Officials estimate it may take several months to clear all debris from the river bottom.

Searchers recovered two more bodies Tuesday night, raising the number of known dead from the bridge collapse last Friday to 23.

The latest victims were identified as Julius O. Bennett of Rt. 3, Walnut Cove, N.C., and Gene Mabe of High Point, N.C.

The bridge was loaded with bumper-to-bumper traffic when it broke. Civil Defense personnel estimate 33 persons are still missing.

An emergency shuttle service across the New York Central Railroad bridge 300 yards upstream of the collapsed bridge is continuing. Officials hope this will ease some of the traffic on the Pomeroy, Ohio-Mason, W.Va. bridge 20 miles north of here.

The West Virginia State Road Commission also is considering two applications for ferry service across the river, which will be started when the Army Corps of Engineers grants approval. At present only search vessels are permitted on the river here.

Meanwhile in Washington, federal highway administrator Lowell Bridwell announced he would appoint a federal panel to investigate the bridge collapse.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said the Senate Committee on Public Works, of which he is chairman, would investigate bridge construction standards throughout the United States.

Randolph noted there are 1,800 bridges in the nation which are 40 years old or older. Of these, 1,100 are highway bridges, and 11 of them cross the Ohio River into West Virginia.

Ohio authorities have announced they will inspect three of the bridges, and West Virginia highway officials have closed another bridge at St. Marys pending an inspection by a private engineering firm.

Meanwhile it was disclosed Tuesday that the design of the bridge was changed before it was built from twisted wire suspension cables to heat treated "eyebars" trusses.

Eyebars construction is cheaper, but Edward J. Donnelly, member of a Baltimore engineering firm which worked on the original design, said, "there is nothing basically wrong with the eyebar construction."

Roy E. Schwalbaugh, 30, of 425 Avon Drive, forfeited a $19 bond set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Robert Melvin, 25, Route 3, was charged with speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone and failure to transfer auto registration.

He forfeited a $19 bond set on the first and a $24 bond set on the second charge.

Charles Kiser Jr., 25, Ashville, forfeited a $19 bond set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Chancey Edmunds, 44, Ashville, was charged with failure to display red lights on an exterior load. He forfeited a $24 bond.

Herbert Haller, 39, Mt. Sterling, forfeited a $24 bond set on charges of failure to display license plates.

Larry Turner, 25, of 535 Union St., pleaded no contest to charges of failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead. He was fined $25 and costs.

Shirley Gilpen, 28, Mt. Sterling, pleaded guilty to charges of driving without a license and driving without due regard to the safety and rights of others. She was fined $50 and costs on each charge with $25 of the last fine suspended.

Leonard Massie Jr., 22, Williamsport, pleaded not guilty to charges of driving without due regard for the safety and rights of others. He was fined $50 and costs.

The court collected $288 in fines and bond forfeitures from out-of-county residents.

Two Civil Suits Are Dismissed

Two civil suits were dismissed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court by the plaintiffs without record.

The General Motors Acceptance Corporation dismissed a collection action against David O. Dennis, New Holland, in the amount of $1,757.68.

An appeal of a Bureau of Workman's Compensation ruling was dismissed by John Fridley when a settlement was reached out of court.

Blaze Is Fatal To Toledo Youth

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The body of a Toledo teen-ager was found Tuesday night in a burning storage building on the West Side.

The victim was identified as Eugene Moore, 16, and fire officials said he apparently suffocated.

Change Set In Reading of Gas Meters

A new system of modern computerized billing will make it possible for Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., to read meters of Circleville area customers every other month, rather than monthly, and continue to send each customer monthly bills for gas service, C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for the gas company, said today.

Mr. Baker explained that under this new system, every second month's gas bill will be individually calculated on electronic computers.

"Every month for the past year and a half, in preparation for this change, the gas company has calculated each customer's gas bill, and then checked the result against the bill obtained through the actual meter reading," Baker said. "This enabled the company to perfect the formula that will be used to calculate bills.

"This computation will use each customer's record of actual gas usage over the 13 previous months, adjusted by the effect of warmer or colder weather conditions and the number of days in the billing period. Each customer's account will be verified automatically the following month by an actual meter reading," Baker said.

He said that the new program will include residential and small commercial customers and will be gradually adopted throughout the gas company's 61-county operating area in Ohio during 1968 and 1969. It will go into effect in the Circleville area Jan. 1, 1969.

"Actually, the gas company has sent calculated bills to customers for several years in months when it has been impossible to gain access to meters," Baker said.

"Today, gas rates for Ohio homes are among the lowest in the nation, and we want to keep them that way," he pointed out. "The new bi-monthly meter reading program eventually will save an estimated half million dollars a year in operating costs throughout the company's distribution area in Ohio. It is another in a series of programs adopted by the gas company to help hold the line against rising costs."

John T. Davis Receives Ph.D.

John T. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis of 129 Montclair Ave., received a Ph. D. Saturday from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The doctorate was received in classical languages — Latin and Greek.

Two previous degrees he received leading to the Ph.D. were A.B. in 1964 and a Master's degree in 1965, both from the University of Michigan. Dr. Davis is currently an associate professor at Ohio State University, Columbus, where he teaches classical languages.

Deputy Probation Officers Named By Judge Cline

Juvenile Court Judge Guy Cline appointed two deputy juvenile probation officers Tuesday.

Lincoln Schwartz, mayor of New Holland, and Glen Clay Marshall at Ashville, will serve as deputies to Probation Officer Millard Dorn.

Both men will serve with indefinite terms and without financial compensation.

Motorist Escapes Serious Injury

Mary Strausbaugh, Kingston, escaped serious injury 1 a. m. today when she lost control of her car, wrecking it on the Ross - Pickaway County Line Road south of Whisler.

The car was demolished. Mrs. Strausbaugh sustained an abrasion of the neck. She told Pickaway Deputy Sheriff James Lockard she lost control of the vehicle trying to avoid hitting a small animal that darted out to the road.

Columbus Eyes Building Complex

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—City officials and the Downtown Area Committee have been briefed by consultants on a proposed project for construction of a $30 million hotel-convention hall, an indoor arena complex recommended for downtown Columbus. The consultants suggested the complex be constructed on a square bounded by High, Third, Town and Rich streets. Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner said a special committee would be formed to implement the recommendation.

Heart Transplant Patient Washkansky Said Better

By DAVID J. PAINE
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The condition of heart transplant patient Louis Washkansky, 53, deteriorated today, a bulletin issued by Groote Schuur Hospital said.

City Police,

committee felt the auditor was "due for a raise."

The solicitor's salary increase came after much study, Barnhill said. Solicitor-elect Charles Hosterman had requested a "straight $15 per hour" salary when he takes over in January. Barnhill noted that he and his committee felt this would be "entirely out of line." The $5,000 annual salary for solicitor in Circleville is "more than ample," Barnhill said.

The finance chairman said that each member of council was polled concerning salary increases for elected officials and it was unanimous to retain the present salaries for mayor, treasurer and council members.

THE mayor now gets $1,500 per year (the last raise was granted in 1949); the treasurer gets $700; and councilmen get $800 each.

The General Fund appropriations ordinance also listed the municipal judge's salary at $10,000; acting judge $1,000; clerk $4,400; deputy clerk $3,400; bailiff $3,500.

Appropriated for regular police and provisional appointees was $78,200; for regular and special firemen $70,000; service director $4,400; safety director $1,023; health commissioner $1,650.

The total, which includes everything from salaries and supplies to insurance and utilities, was $332,278.30. Estimated resources were listed at $332,278.30 leaving a balance unappropriated of $130.15 in the General Fund.

The Street Construction, Maintenance and Repair Fund had a total of $107,524 in appropriations which includes $37,024 in payroll. There is a balance of $888.37 unappropriated.

Total appropriated from the Waterworks Operating Fund was $172,343.50 with estimated resources of $304,350.75 leaving a balance of $132,007.25.

SANITARY Sewer Improvement Fund has estimated resources of $90,151.90 and appropriations of $79,226.50 leaving a balance of $10,925.40.

Following is a rundown on each of the ordinances fixing the salaries of city employees pending Mayor Gordon's signature.

POLICE DEPT.
Police chief $6,888; police sergeants beginning at $6,024 with up to $6,324 after five years; police patrolmen beginning at $5,712 up to three years at $5,964; overtime rates were also listed ranging from $2.52 per hour to $2.78 per hour.

FIRE DEPT.
Fire chief $6,744 annually; fire lieutenants beginning at $5,868 up to $6,060 after three years; firemen beginning at $5,488 up to $5,808 after three years; overtime rates were set from a minimum of $2.06 up to $2.29.

WATER WORKS
Dept. of Sewage
Manager of Public Utilities $9,500 ($6,380 from the Dept. of Water and $3,120 from the Dept. of Sewage); bookkeeper cashier $4,800; assistant bookkeeper cashier $3,300; chairman of the board $300; board members $200; operators, meter readers and maintenance personnel ranging from $4,800 per year to $6,000 per year for the chief operator at the sewage plant.

HEALTH DEPT.
Health nurse $4,500; health commissioner $1,050; health board clerk $3,600; city sanitarian $1,800.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION
Secretary $150 per year; each of three members $75.

The worsening situation followed a statement earlier in the day to Radio South Africa by Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the heart transplant team, that Washkansky had shown improvement.

Earlier today a hospital bulletin said there was no change in Washkansky's condition and he "is still seriously ill." But the doctors Tuesday night said he had made a slight gain after a transfusion of white blood cells.

A spokesman for the team of 30 specialists caring for the 53-year-old wholesale grocer said they would probably repeat the treatment to provide Washkansky with more of the white cells that combat infection.

A sharp decrease in his white corpuscle count Tuesday indicated to physicians that Washkansky's body was acting against its own tissue more than against the borrowed heart he received 17 days ago.

Until he took a turn for the worse over the weekend, Washkansky had made a startling show of robustness since the heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in an auto accident was implanted in his chest Dec. 3.

The white cell transfusion, gathered from the blood of four donors, was made on the recommendation of a French blood cancer specialist who reported the treatment had remarkable results in some cases.

Washkansky's physicians were working virtually in the unknown on the world's first human heart recipient, and Dr. M.C. Botha, the team's chief pathologist, acknowledged they were "playing this by ear."

"We were very well aware of this danger of rejection before the operation and have lived every day since the operation with the awareness that some form or other of rejection was a strong possibility," he said.

The surgical team had taken hope from the report of an American surgeon, Dr. T.E. Starzl, who Botha said encountered similar rejection circumstances in kidney transplants. Most of the kidney patients Starzl treated at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Denver, Colo., survived after being ill for about two weeks when their own tissue was attacked by the body, Botha said.

with modifications, best fit Circleville needs.

Turner also noted that the code does not become effective until July 1, 1968, and therefore would give city officials time to work with the county commissioners in preparing a similar code for the areas outside the city limits.

Council was told by the commissioners that the "city would have to act first." The legislation was first introduced in November.

COUNCIL BRIEFS
FOLLOWING last night's session, one of the longest of the year, council said farewell to its president, W. Harold Clifton; to long-time Mayor Ben H. Gordon; to First Ward Councilman Frank Barnhill; and to Solicitor Kenneth Robbins.

Joe Bell, councilman-at-large, will take over the president's chair next month. Clifton had occupied the chair for eight years in addition to being on council for six years. Richard L. Gerhardt will be the new mayor; Dr. David Goldschmidt will replace Barnhill and O. Charles Hosterman will be the new solicitor.

Barnhill urged councilmen to pursue the institution of a purchase order and requisition system next year in his absence.

The solons confirmed an appointment by Mayor Gordon of Dr. E. L. Montgomery to the Board of Governors of Berger Hospital. The term is to expire May 31, 1970. Gordon earlier appointed Attorney E. L. Crist on the board.

Probe Crime Influence In 'Fun City'

NEW YORK (AP) — Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan is investigating suspected Cosa Nostra influence in more than one city department, according to published reports.

The reports Tuesday came after a federal grand jury indicted former Water Commissioner James L. Marcus and a reputed Cosa Nostra leader in an alleged $40,000 kickback on an $800,000 city contract.

Mayor John V. Lindsay told a news conference Tuesday that if the federal charge against Marcus were true, "then it's clear that Mr. Marcus lied to me."

"To say I have been ill served and the public also is an understatement," he said of the worst scandal in his two-year Republican administration. "I consider this a betrayal of a personal and public trust."

Lindsay declared that he fired Marcus, his friend and a key aide, after Marcus became the object of an investigation by Hogan's office. The letter of resignation was worded to appear voluntary.

The mayor said it would be improper for him to comment on reports that other city departments were being investigated.

Marcus, 37, was indicted with Cosa Nostra bigwig Antonio "Tony Ducks" Corallo and four other men Monday on charges of conspiring to violate federal anti-racketeering laws.

Corallo posted $10,000 bond and the others were freed without bond pending a hearing. The maximum penalty upon conviction for each defendant is five years in federal prison and a $10,000 fine.

day he would support the plan if adopted, though he considered it "an absolute sham" and a "public relations gimmick for the governor."

Meanwhile, House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess R-4 Wood would not commit himself.

"I'm not backing off from the plan—I have never embraced it," he said.

Kurfess told newsmen after the hearing that he would urge house support, however, for any plan approved by the committee.

Republican leaders in Hamilton County also are unhappy with the Rhodes plan. The county now has two Congressional districts — the First and the Second. Under the Rhodes plan, parts of both districts would be joined to the adjoining Sixth and 24th districts.

And both of the affected GOP congressmen, Robert Taft Jr., of the First District and Donald D. Clancy of the Second, have expressed dissatisfaction with the plan.

Taft, whose home would end up a mile from the new Sixth District boundary, attacked what he called Supreme Court's "technical nit-picking" in ordering the redistricting.

"There are factors other than population numbers that are not recognized by the court," he said. "For example, the affinity of residents to a metropolitan area."

County Receives Welfare Funds

Pickaway County received $19,477 in public assistance subsidy payments from the state of Ohio this month.

These funds are turned over to the county auditor to pay the administrative costs of the welfare programs and the state's share of general relief programs.

Highest amount of funds released this month was $1,438,394 to Cuyahoga County and a low of $509 was paid to Vinton County.

Assistance subsidy payments to all the counties during the past six months totals $26 million. The nine more populous of Ohio's 76 counties received 73.9 per cent of the state-wide distributions.

Bridge Disaster Brings U.S. Probe

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — Small boats continued to drag the Ohio River today downstream from the collapsed suspension bridge here while divers attempted to free wrecked autos from the mangled steel and concrete 40 feet under water.

The divers use torches to cut the sunken steel girders into workable lengths, which are then hauled up by 100-ton floating derricks. Officials estimate it may take several months to clear all debris from the river bottom.

Searchers recovered two more bodies Tuesday night, raising the number of known dead from the bridge collapse last Friday to 23.

The latest victims were identified as Julius O. Bennett of Rt. 3, Walnut Cove, N.C., and Gene Mabe of High Point, N.C.

The bridge was loaded with bumper-to-bumper traffic when it broke. Civil Defense personnel estimate 33 persons are still missing.

An emergency shuttle service across the New York Central Railroad bridge 300 yards upstream of the collapsed bridge is continuing. Officials hope this will ease some of the traffic on the Pomeroy, Ohio-Mason, W.Va. bridge 20 miles north of here.

The West Virginia State Road Commission also is considering two applications for ferry service across the river, which will be started when the Army Corps of Engineers grants approval. At present only search vessels are permitted on the river here.

Meanwhile in Washington, federal highway administrator Lowell Bridwell announced he would appoint a federal panel to investigate the bridge collapse.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said the Senate Committee on Public Works, of which he is chairman, would investigate bridge construction standards throughout the United States.

Randolph noted there are 1,800 bridges in the nation which are 40 years old or older. Of these, 1,100 are highway bridges, and 11 of them cross the Ohio River into West Virginia.

Ohio authorities have announced they will inspect three of the bridges, and West Virginia highway officials have closed another bridge at St. Marys pending an inspection by a private engineering firm.

Meanwhile it was disclosed Tuesday that the design of the bridge was changed before it was built from twisted wire suspension cables to heat treated "eyebars trusses."

Eyebars construction is cheaper, but Edward J. Donnelly, member of a Baltimore engineering firm which worked on the original design, said, "there is nothing basically wrong with the eyebar construction."

Harbingers of New Year

Some are big and some little, some slim and some broad, some colorful and some somber, some pretty and some unpretentious, some useful and some ornamental, but all are here to play their part in the new year. They are the 1968 calendars.

It is an old saying that the American people rarely appreciate that which is free. Yet the calendar is one of the greatest blessings of modern civilization much more convenient than the ancient system of notching a stick to denote the passing of days, or of discarding a stick from a bundle to keep track of the flight of time.

The first scientific attempt to formulate a calendar is believed to date back to Egypt, and it is theorized that the huge pyramids erected there were not, as was originally supposed, tombs for kings, but gigantic dials erected to determine the position of the sun and the consequent season of the year.

Scientists assert that with these huge shadows it was possible for Egyptian scientists to determine the length of the year to the third decimal point, or 365.252. It is believed the smaller pyramids were erected first but proved inaccurate as to angle and inclination, and each succeeding pyramid was designed to be more nearly correct, until the last and the greatest approximated perfection.

One theory is that not until the huge piles of stones had been abandoned by astronomer and geometer was the pyramid converted into a tomb for the reigning king.

Now, instead of journeying to a pyramid and computing the season from a peg in the ground, the dweller in the twentieth century has but to glance at a calendar to tell the exact day, week or month of the year.

The World Today

By GAYLORD SHAW (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more Americans are shunning party labels and identifying themselves as political independents—a development that could profoundly affect the 1968 election campaigns.

Surveys show nearly one-third of the nation's adults—some 36 million potential voters—no longer consider themselves Democrats or Republicans. They instead call themselves independents.

This rising independence of the electorate has not gone unnoticed among professional politicians, whose livelihood depends on their ability to chart accurately the moods of the voters.

The pros are shaping campaigns that will appeal to this large bloc of independents—or "ticket splitters," as some strategists call them.

These "ticket splitters" tend to be younger, well-educated, higher-paid professional or white-collar workers who closely examine candidates and issues before deciding how to vote.

The the 1968 campaigns—national as well as state—may see the use of more sophisticated techniques. Eye- or ear-catching slogans and jingles may be downplayed in favor of in-depth explanations of candidates' qualifications and the issues.

The politicians' interest in the independent voters has been heightened by research indicating the "ticket splitters" almost always end up voting for the winning candidate. "We just haven't found them voting for a losing candidate," one tactician said.

Some political managers have even charted which areas — usually middle- or upper-class suburbs—have the highest number of "ticket splitters." Their candidates spend more time and money in these areas.

Over the past quarter-century, Dr. George H. Gallup has documented the trend toward voter independence. Periodically since 1940, his American Institute of Public Opinion has included this question in its surveys: "In politics today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat or independent?"

In a survey this fall, 31 per cent of those interviewed replied independent, 27 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat. Six months earlier, the breakdown was 27 per cent independent, 27 per cent Republican and 46 per cent Democrat.

In 1964, the last presidential election year, 22 per cent of adults interviewed considered themselves independents, 25 per cent Republicans and 53 per cent Democrats. In 1950, the figures stood at 22 per cent independent, 33 per cent Republican and 45 per cent Democrat.

In 1940, it was 20 per cent independent, 38 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat.

The 31 per cent figure reported this fall is the highest "for independents we've ever had," Gallup recently told an interviewer. "You might say on this basis that the Republican party is a third party" since, for the first time since 1940, the number of persons calling themselves Republicans falls below the number calling themselves independents.

"Republicans polling their full strength would be hopelessly defeated," Gallup added. "They've got to get a considerable number of independents to get over that 50 per cent line." James Marlow is on vacation.

New Year's Eve at liquorless Disneyland has been sold out in advance the past three years. The crowds, at $9 per head, are 60 per cent under 21 and include family groups. Inducements this time: "Hats, noisemakers, eight great bands, unlimited use of all attractions, surprise midnight spectacular."

Disney staffers polled departing customers last month, asking: "Have you ever visited Disneyland before?" Nearly 60 per cent said yes. Among Southern Californians the percentage was 78.6.

Attendance for the park's fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was $7.9 million, up from the previous year's record $6.7 million. Estimated gross income this year: $51 million; last year's record, $41 million.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can the heart itself become infected?

Any organ of the body is subject to the ravages of three major threats. Infection, degeneration and tumors can occur in the heart as in any other organ.

The heart muscle, or myocardium, can develop in infectious diseases.

Sometimes a far distant infection of the kidneys may be responsible for an inflammation of the heart muscle.

The outer lining of the heart is the pericardium. This protective tissue may be infected in people with severe tuberculosis, uremia and following injury.

A fine, delicate membrane lines the inner surface of the heart. This is called the endocardium. An infection of this membrane is called endocarditis.

Years ago when the diagnosis was made of endocarditis due to bacteria in the blood stream the chances of survival were poor.

With the advent of penicillin and other antibiotics, coupled with blood thinning drugs like heparin, many patients now survive these infections.

Infections of the heart muscle, the outer covering and the inner lining are now treated effectively, returning health to many who might otherwise have perished.

When is it necessary to make an artificial opening in the abdomen to empty the bowels?

A large tumor of the large intestine or a severe inflammation of the intestine, like chronic ulcerative colitis, can be the reasons for making an artificial "rectum." Occasionally, such an opening, called a colostomy, is made temporarily in order to put the rest of the bowel in a state of inactivity while a severe disease is being treated.

A permanent opening is made for a tumor or severe infection and patients are quickly taught how to care for themselves without embarrassment.

Many patients with colostomy openings live for many years and are in contact with people in everyday life without giving anyone the awareness that they have this artificial opening.

When first a person is told that they will have to live with a permanent colostomy they are terribly distressed and hardly believe that life can be worth living. They are soon put at emotional rest by a valiant group of people who have organized colostomy clubs to help

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
Governor Ronald Reagan of California has trusted informants who think the war in Vietnam is going better than we know. When General Westmoreland was in Washington, he exuded a tempered optimism. Former Congressman Walter Judd, an experienced Orientalist who has made several trips to Saigon, is sure that the rising anti-war decibel count in the United States is proof of what he professes to know anyway, that the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese have absolutely no chance to win on the battlefield. And now a respected correspondent of the New York Daily News, Stan Carter, writing from Saigon, quotes an American intelligence analyst as saying that the American bombing of North Vietnam is so physically shattering that Hanoi can't send enough troops a month down the Ho Chi Minh Trail to replace the heavy casualties we are inflicting on the Communists in our big South Vietnam enclave. The headlong rushes of the enemy at Dak To and in the Mekong Delta have a desperation flavor.

I mention all this not with any desire to indulge in personal prophecy about the course of the war, but just to raise another question: What will the huge peace movement in the U.S. do in case the fighting in Southeast Asia starts to dwindle away as the 1968 election approaches? With thousands putting all their emotional capital into a disappearing cause, what is it going to do to the country?

There is nothing so pathetic as a politico who is suddenly picked up membership mainly deprived of an issue. Senator Gene McCarthy, having gone out on a limb to force an anti-Johnson movement in the primaries, would, in the event of a disappearing war, be a general without an army. The Kennedys, having lent McCarthy some tacit encouragement, would surely drop him without ceremony.

And what of the New Left on the campuses? The rule of thumb, among those who have had access to certain secret intelligence documents, is that ten active Marxists (whether of the orthodox Leninist or the dissident Maoist variety) can swing thirty knowing Fellow Travelers. These, in turn, can arouse ten times their number on a burning issue that serves Marxist disruptive purposes but is not necessarily related to the ideology of socialism.

The Draft has been just such an issue. If it loses its urgency, the fact of its unrelatedness to socialism will cut the connection between the hardcore agitators on the campus and the larger numbers who have had more purely personal reasons to take part in a crusade to keep their lives from being interrupted by a war that has never been dramatized or even explained.

What will the Reverend William Sloane Coff of Yale do without draft cards to collect for mailing to Washington? What will Dr. Ben Spock do with no police lines to assault? And what will happen to all the chapters of the Students for a Democratic Society which have since our society has plenty of problems, there will be other causes to engage those who want to be committed to something larger than themselves. But it will be interesting to see what happens in the coming period of hush. The civil rights movement lost much of its headway when the hard core Leftists who work in the background of dissident movements suddenly decided (or were told) that disrupting the Vietnam War was the one thing on which to concentrate their energies. If the military draft no longer menaces young people who want to remain in school, will the movement to substitute a voluntary professional army for selective service fizzle out as the civil rights movement did before it?

As one who thinks the military draft has no place in a peacetime voluntary society, I'd like to think that the members of the SDS will focus their attention on getting a new military policy once the war in Vietnam has subsided. But youth organizations are inconstant in the nature of things, for every four years means another complete turnover in their membership. What's here today on the campus is gone tomorrow.

Lyndon Johnson's great gamble is that he can pull the rug out from under his enemies by a change in Vietnam. With the Reds losing all the recent battles, I'd hate to bet on LBJ's being wrong.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 35 per cent of wives now hold jobs outside the home, up 5 per cent since 1960. Among America's 26 million working women—only one-fourth of whom are single—are more than 4,000 taxicab drivers, 3,500 mail carriers, 120 blacksmiths, 99 locomotive engineers, 261 stevedores and almost 1,000 lumber workers.

In addition to helping hubby bring home the bacon, U.S. women are getting richer in their own right. For example: they own more than $140 billion in life insurance.

Here are a few seasonal bargains Santa has available for the purse-heavy buyer: a pair of live matched camels, $4,125; a sold gold wig, $35,000; a Cambodian tiger-skin coat, $7,500; a mink trench coat, $6,000; a full-sized mechanical elephant that lumbers along at eight miles an hour, $10,000.

Turkey reigns as the favorite Christmas dish here, but in Ireland it's roast beef, in Germany roast duck and in Italy a nice dish of eels is highly prized.

It is no longer true that yesterday's newspaper is good only for lining shelves, starting a fire in the grate or to wrap a fish in. Dairy scientists at the Pennsylvania State University have found that cattle grow and thrive on a diet consisting of ground-up newspapers and molasses. Yep, editorial page and all!

Quotable notables: "A celebrity is a person who works hard all his life to become well known, then wears dark glasses to avoid being recognized." —Fred Allen.

Boozers are losers: A survey has found that alcoholics are seven times as likely as non-alcoholics to suffer fatal accidents.

The horse, once the chief source of power on the farm, is making a comeback as a pleasure vehicle. America's equine population, which had dropped to below three million by 1959, is now estimated at between six and seven million. But horses aren't a cheap hobby. Each costs the average owner about $72 a year for vitamins and minerals, $275 for feed, and about $100 for shoes and medicines.

Speaking of medicines, one reason they are high is that it costs the pharmaceutical industry about $7 million to develop a new drug.

Worth remembering: "Open your door for a good day, and prepare yourself for a bad one." —Spanish proverb.

History lesson: Can you name

the U.S. presidents who had the following nicknames: "Old Sink or Swim," "American Tallyrand," "Tennessee Tailor," and "Friend of Helpless Children"? They were John Adams, Martin Van Buren, Andrew Johnson, and Herbert Hoover.

Kitchen capers: Two-thirds of American men, according to a poll made by the Borden Co., now can cook, and some 10 per cent claim they can cook better than their wives. Only 40 per cent of the male culinary artists said they used cookbooks—the rest just make up their recipes as they go along.

An attempted bank robbery at New Holland was aborted when the night manager of the telephone company in that city turned on the office lights frightening the would-be burglars. Telephone lines had been cut and the village policeman bound by the trio of burglars.

The Circleville Post Office remained open two days a week until 9 p.m. to facilitate the handling of Christmas mail.

The Community Christmas tree, sponsored by Howard Hall Post of American Legion, was erected at the courthouse and on Christmas Eve candy was to be distributed to the kiddies of the city.

Work was started to remodel the Lyman Bell store room at 146 W. Main St. to be occupied by the W. L. Funk grocery.

Circleville Elks were making plans for their annual dance on New Year's Eve. Dancing to the music of Rusty Parker's orchestra was to begin at 12:30 a.m. to continue until 5:30 a.m. communities recorded temperatures when breakfast would be served.

The committee arranging the affair included Hildeburn Jones, Robert L. Criswell, George Foreman, Dr. R. F. Lilly, Bishop Given and Dr. G. D. Phillips.

The fire insurance rate for the City of Circleville was increased. A survey made by the Ohio Inspection Bureau disclosed that sufficient water was not available when needed to fight fires.

Funds were transferred from the State Relief Commission to enable Circleville to establish a Social Service Clearing House. The clearing house would reduce duplication and unnecessary spending in handling charity in the city. The movement was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and endorsed by all the charitable organizations.

Holiday Home Lighting and Decorating contest was cancelled due to a scarcity of entrants. One entry was received.

The city and county suffered as the mercury dropped to an official 12 below zero. Rural communities recorded temperatures of minus 22.

Harbingers of New Year

Some are big and some little, some slim and some broad, some colorful and some somber, some pretty and some unpretentious, some useful and some ornamental, but all are here to play their part in the new year. They are the 1968 calendars.

It is an old saying that the American people rarely appreciate that which is free. Yet the calendar is one of the greatest blessings of modern civilization much more convenient than the ancient system of notching a stick to denote the passing of days, or of discarding a stick from a bundle to keep track of the flight of time.

The first scientific attempt to formulate a calendar is believed to date back to Egypt, and it is theorized that the huge pyramids erected there were not, as was originally supposed, tombs for kings, but gigantic dials erected to determine the position of the sun and the consequent season of the year.

Scientists assert that with these huge shadows it was possible for Egyptian scientists to determine the length of the year to the third decimal point, or 365.252. It is believed the smaller pyramids were erected first but proved inaccurate as to angle and inclination, and each succeeding pyramid was designed to be more nearly correct, until the last and the greatest approximated perfection.

One theory is that not until the huge piles of stones had been abandoned by astronomer and geometer was the pyramid converted into a tomb for the reigning king.

Now, instead of journeying to a pyramid and computing the season from a peg in the ground, the dweller in the twentieth century has but to glance at a calendar to tell the exact day, week or month of the year.

The World Today

By GAYLORD SHAW (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more Americans are shunning party labels and identifying themselves as political independents—a development that could profoundly affect the 1968 election campaigns.

Surveys show nearly one-third of the nation's adults—some 36 million potential voters—no longer consider themselves Democrats or Republicans. They instead call themselves independents.

This rising independence of the electorate has not gone unnoticed among professional politicians, whose livelihood depends on their ability to chart accurately the moods of the voters.

The pros are shaping campaigns that will appeal to this large bloc of independents—or "ticket splitters," as some strategists call them.

These "ticket splitters" tend to be younger, well-educated, higher-paid professional or white-collar workers who closely examine candidates and issues before deciding how to vote.

The 1968 campaigns—national as well as state—may see the use of more sophisticated techniques. Eye- or ear-catching slogans and jingles may be downplayed in favor of in-depth explanations of candidates' qualifications and the issues.

The politicians' interest in the independent voters has been heightened by research indicating the "ticket splitters" almost always end up voting for the winning candidate. "We just haven't found them voting for a losing candidate," one tactician said.

Some political managers have even charted which areas—usually middle- or upper-class suburbs—have the highest number of "ticket splitters." Their candidates spend more time and money in these areas.

Over the past quarter-century, Dr. George H. Gallup has documented the trend toward voter independence. Periodically since 1940, his American Institute of Public Opinion has included this question in its surveys: "In politics today, do you consider yourself a Republican, Democrat or independent?"

In a survey this fall, 31 per cent of those interviewed replied independent, 27 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat. Six months earlier, the breakdown was 27 per cent independent, 27 per cent Republican and 46 per cent Democrat.

In 1964, the last presidential election year, 22 per cent of adults interviewed considered themselves independents, 25 per cent Republicans and 53 per cent Democrats. In 1950, the figures stood at 22 per cent independent, 33 per cent Republican and 45 per cent Democrat. In 1940, it was 20 per cent independent, 38 per cent Republican and 42 per cent Democrat.

The 31 per cent figure reported this fall is the highest "for independents we've ever had," Gallup recently told an interviewer. "You might say on this basis that the Republican party is a third party" since, for the first time since 1940, the number of persons calling themselves Republicans falls below the number calling themselves independents.

"Republicans polling their full strength would be hopelessly defeated," Gallup added. "They've got to get a considerable number of independents to get over that 50 per cent line." James Marlow is on vacation.

to below three million by 1959, is now estimated at between six and seven million. But horses aren't a cheap hobby. Each costs the average owner about $72 a year for vitamins and minerals, $275 for feed, and about $100 for shoes and medicines.

Speaking of medicines, one reason they are high is that it costs the pharmaceutical industry about $7 million to develop a new drug.

Worth remembering: "Open your door for a good day, and prepare yourself for a bad one."—Spanish proverb.

History lesson: Can you name

the U.S. presidents who had the following nicknames: "Old Sink or Swim," "American Tallyrand," "Tennessee Tailor," and "Friend of Helpless Children"? They were John Adams, Martin Van Buren, Andrew Johnson, and Herbert Hoover.

Kitchen capers: Two-thirds of American men, according to a poll made by the Borden Co., now can cook, and some 10 per cent claim they can cook better than their wives. Only 40 per cent of the male culinary artists said they used cookbooks—the rest just make up their recipes as they go along.

An attempted bank robbery at New Holland was aborted when the night manager of the telephone company in that city turned on the office lights (rightening the would-be burglars). Telephone lines had been cut and the village policeman bound by the trio of burglars.

The Circleville Post Office remained open two days a week until 9 p.m. to facilitate the handling of Christmas mail.

The Community Christmas tree, sponsored by Howard Hall Post of American Legion, was erected at the courthouse and on Christmas Eve candy was to be distributed to the kiddies of the city.

Work was started to remodel the Lyman Bell store room at 146 W. Main St. to be occupied by the W. L. Funk grocery.

Circleville Elks were making plans for their annual dance on New Year's Eve. Dancing to the music of Rusty Parker's orchestra was to begin at 12:30 a.m. to continue until 5:30 a.m. when breakfast would be served.

The committee arranging the affair included Hildebrand Jones, Robert L. Criswell, George Foreman, Dr. R. F. Lilly, Bishop Given and Dr. G. D. Phillips.

The fire insurance rate for the City of Circleville was increased. A survey made by the Ohio Inspection Bureau disclosed that sufficient water was not available when needed to fight fires.

Funds were transferred from the State Relief Commission to enable Circleville to establish a Social Service Clearing House. The clearing house would reduce duplication and unnecessary spending in handling charity in the city. The movement was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and endorsed by all the charitable organizations.

Holiday Home Lighting and Decorating contest was canceled due to a scarcity of entrants. One entry was received.

The city and county suffered as the mercury dropped to an official 12 below zero. Rural communities recorded temperatures of minus 22.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Pigwidgen says he will lift the curse if Claus can eat more pig than he. The Pigwidgen eats five except the bones but Claus secretly throws his five pigs in the fire which eats bones and all.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

THE DRINKING CONTEST
THE Pigwidgen could scarcely believe it. While he had eaten five roast pigs leaving only the bones, Claus had managed his five roast bones, tails and all.

"I have won the contest," said Claus. "You must now lift the curse."

"No, no," cried the Pigwidgen. "There must be a drinking contest. If you can drink more than I, perhaps I will lift the curse."

He rushed out to the great hall and ordered the pygmies to bring two urns of chocolate milk. The urns were so large and so heavy it took 15 pygmies to carry each one. They set them on a cloth-covered table and went off to get the milk.

While they were gone Claus said, "Before we begin I would like to step outside for a breath of air."

"By all means," agreed the Pigwidgen. "Take your time."

Claus went out with Tweedleknies. He told the elf that it was the fire and not he that ate up all the roast pigs. "But how can I drink so large an urn of milk!" he groaned.

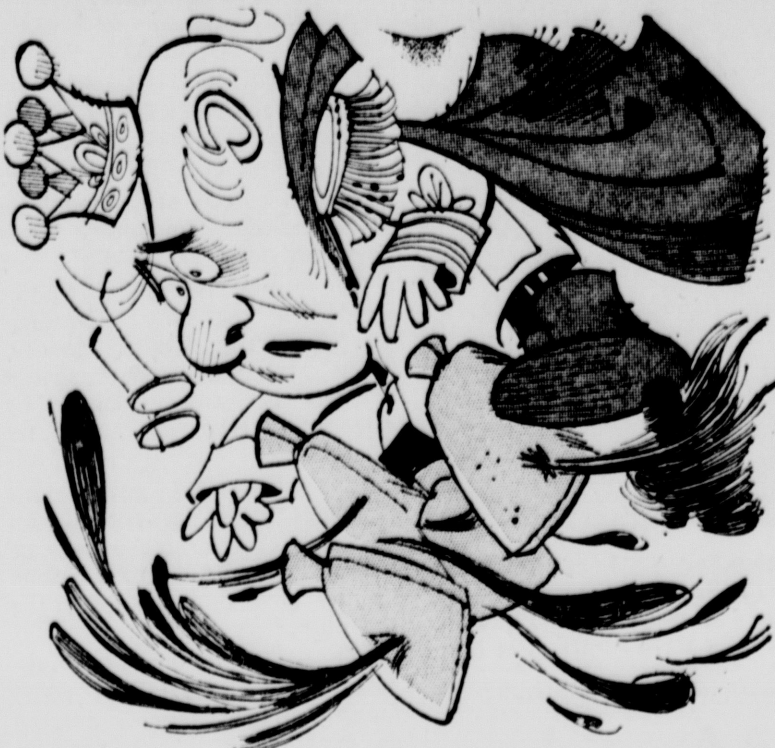

"Drink what you can and do not worry," said the elf. "I shall use my wits as you advised and I am sure I will think of something."

The elf scurried back to the castle and left Claus walking gloomily by the lake. Meanwhile, the Pigwidgen has been busy. While Claus was away the little creature secretly inserted seven hot water bottles beneath his shirt. Then he called for the contest to begin.

Claus sat at one end of the cloth-covered table and the Pigwidgen sat at the other end. Patrick Tweedleknies was nowhere to be seen.

"Where could he be?" wondered Claus anxiously. "If ever wits were needed it is now!" He thought he might somehow dump out his milk if only the elf were there to distract the Pigwidgen's attention.

The two great urns were filled with foaming chocolate milk.

The hot water bottles burst, spilling chocolate everywhere.

They were too heavy and brimming to lift from the table. The only way to drink was through large rubber straws.

"Begin!" ordered the Pigwidgen.

Once more Claus looked around for Tweedleknies. The elf was gone. There was nothing for it but to drink. He bent over his urn and sucked desperately on his straw. He drank and drank. Slowly the milk went down until half the urn was empty.

Try as he would Claus could not swallow another drop. He sank back in his chair and gasped, "I have done!"

The Pigwidgen bent over his own urn and made mighty sucking noises. Actually the end of his straw led to the seven hot water bottles under his shirt and not to his mouth at all.

The milk flowed from the urn until all the hot water bottles were full but when the Pigwidgen looked up the urn was still full. The Pigwidgen blinked in surprise. He began to drink the milk himself. He sucked and he huffed and he puffed and he swallowed and he gasped and still the urn was full.

The Pigwidgen's face turned blue and his stomach swelled. Suddenly there was an awful explosion. The seven hot water bottles burst open and spattered chocolate milk all over the table.

The Pigwidgen stared popeyed at his urn still brimming with milk. Claus leaped to his feet crying, "I have won!"

Policeman Can Suspend License

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A policeman can suspend your driver's license here if he stops you for a routine check, or for any other reason, and smells the slightest liquor on your breath.

The new British Columbia law, passed in 1966 but not put into effect until this year, is designed to take the drinking driver out of his car for the time his ability might be impaired by booze.

No charges are involved. A driver's only recourse is to ask for an on-the-spot breath test, or get an immediate blood test from his doctor.

Seth Taft Files Election Costs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seth C. Taft, who lost the Cleveland mayoral race to Carl B. Stokes, spent $133,770 in the campaign and over $71,000 of the bills have not been paid, according to a report filed Tuesday with the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections.

The Stokes committee has not filed its report of receipts and expenditures. Friday is the deadline.

Open House Planned for Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Dean of Atlanta will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday with an Open House, from 2 to 4 p. m. at their home.

The couple was married Dec. 24, 1917 in Chillicothe. They are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Doris) Woods, Washington, C. H.; and two sons, Edwin W. Dean, Miami, and George R. Dean of Columbus. They have seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean have lived in their present home for the past 22 years. Mr. Dean is a livestock dealer.

Emmett Chapel WSCS Meets in Wilson Home

Christmas meeting of Emmett Chapel Women's Society of Christian Service was held in the home of Mrs. Wells Wilson, recently. Mrs. Frank Graves was assistant hostess.

Mrs. Robert Bauer, vice president, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Samuel Dearth read the Christmas Story from the Bible. She also read a short story and a Christmas Benediction.

Roll call was answered by the 15 members present telling their Christmas wish.

Discussion was held concerning the fruit and food baskets the group is making for Christmas giving.

Following the meeting gifts were exchanged and Christmas carols sung.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Your family will think those buttered green beans are extra good if you top them with crumbled crisply cooked bacon.

Mrs. Jackie Jolliffe presented a program during the recent meeting of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in the home of Mrs. Reber Bell, 451 N. Court St.

The program presented by Mrs. Jolliffe was "How Is Your Conversation?" and "Voice and Vocabulary Reflect the Inner You."

Sue Hauenstein, ways and means chairman, asked that all recipes for the cook book being made, be turned in. A request was also made for survey sheets to be submitted to the president.

Agent Freed In Slaying

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—State liquor agent Robert Butler was acquitted Tuesday in the slaying of a Toledo tavern owner last March.

Butler, of Columbus, charged with second-degree murder, was accused of shooting Sammy Adya of the Casa Blanca Club when he and another agent entered to deliver an after-hours liquor citation.

Butler testified he shot Adya as the tavern operator swung a bottle at the other agent.

Man Convicted of Murder Says Fight Just Beginning

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Kirschke, a suspended deputy district attorney convicted of murdering his wife and her alleged lover, says the jury's decision was "a terrible error which in due time will be corrected." He plans to appeal the verdict.

The jury convicted Kirschke Tuesday after a 13-week trial. On Jan. 8 it will decide whether the penalty should be life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. The prosecution said it had not decided whether to press for the death penalty.

"We haven't lost the war, son," Kirschke told young Doug Kirschke, 24, before bailiffs took him back to his cell. "We've just lost a battle. And from now on it's really going to be a battle."

The verdict was returned after 22 hours and 43 minutes of deliberation.

"It was Jack Kirschke's gun, it was his house, it was his bed, it was his wife, and it was his wife's lover," said prosecutor Albert Harris, an assistant attorney general.

"If Jack Kirschke didn't do it, then who did?"

The bodies of Kirschke's wife, fashion designer Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville Drankhan, 41, were found in the bedroom of the Kirschkes' Long Beach apartment April 8.

Mrs. Kirschke's body was found on a bed, clad only in a kimono top and shot in the head. Drankhan was sprawled fully clothed on the floor next to the bed, also shot in the head.

It was never clearly established when the shootings took place—the bodies were discovered too long after death for medical experts to pinpoint the time.

The prosecution contended that Kirschke, irate because of repeated infidelities of his wife, shot her and Drankhan in embrace of the Kirschkes' bed. The murders took place early in the morning, the prosecution said.

Testimony during the trial centered on the fast life the Kirschkes led in Long Beach. Witnesses said Mrs. Kirschke belonged to a group of women called the "jolly girls," who covered for each other's marital infidelities.

Kirschke, 46, did not take the stand in his own defense. But defense attorney Albert C.S. Ramsey repeatedly contended that a reasonable doubt existed as to Kirschke's guilt.

No Secret School Grants, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials maintain federal agencies will follow new guidelines barring secret government backing of university research abroad even though no enforcement machinery has been provided.

The department's 14-point guidelines published Tuesday specify: "The fact of government research support should always be acknowledged by sponsor, university, and researcher."

In short, a U.S. government financial grant for studies undertaken at a foreign college or university would be made public by the government as well as the university.

But State Department officials acknowledged that while many federal agencies dealing in overseas research projects have adopted the guidelines, there's no existing way to force compliance from any agency that desires to keep secret its connection to such projects.

Neither do the guidelines legally or administratively bind the State Department's Foreign Affairs Research Council, set up to oversee granting of research contracts following a 1965 uproar over a secret Chile project.

The 1965 incident resulted from disclosure that the Army had put researchers in Chile to study potentially disruptive social and political factors. Some critics contended it appeared the Department of the Army was attempting to mount a counter-insurgency effort in the Latin American nation.

Said the new department recommendations:

"Covert support to institutions of higher education is contrary to national policy, on the broad and vital principle that it runs contrary to the spirit of our institutions, and on the pragmatic basis that it may reduce the reliability and credibility of the research project's conclusions and eventually result in damage to the reputation of our scholarly community."

just one darn minute!

That's the most an Accutron® timepiece will gain or lose in one month's time. And we'll put it in writing.

Accutron looks like a watch. But it isn't. It doesn't have a mainspring, a hairspring, or a balance wheel.

These parts make a watch run fast or slow. Accutron has replaced them with an electronic-powered tuning fork. It splits each second into 360 equal parts. And makes the Accutron timepiece so precise, it won't gain or lose an average of more than two seconds a day. In fact, we guarantee accuracy to within 60 seconds a month. Just one darn minute.

The old-fashioned balance wheel principle is used in all watches; not the Accutron movement. The Accutron tuning fork makes possible the first guarantee of accuracy ever given.

Man Convicted of Murder Says Fight Just Beginning

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Kirschke, a suspended deputy district attorney convicted of murdering his wife and her alleged lover, says the jury's decision was "a terrible error which in due time will be corrected." He plans to appeal the verdict.

The jury convicted Kirschke Tuesday after a 13-week trial. On Jan. 8 it will decide whether the penalty should be life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. The prosecution said it had not decided whether to press for the death penalty.

"We haven't lost the war, son," Kirschke told young Doug Kirschke, 24, before bailiffs took him back to his cell. "We've just lost a battle. And from now on it's really going to be a battle."

The verdict was returned after 22 hours and 43 minutes of deliberation.

"It was Jack Kirschke's gun, it was his house, it was his bed, it was his wife, and it was his wife's lover," said prosecutor Albert Harris, an assistant attorney general.

"If Jack Kirschke didn't do it, then who did?" The bodies of Kirschke's wife, fashion designer Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville Drankhan, 41, were found in the bedroom of the Kirschke's Long Beach apartment April 8.

Mrs. Kirschke's body was found on a bed, clad only in a kimono top and shot in the head. Drankhan was sprawled fully clothed on the floor next to the

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE

A carry-in supper was held by members of Star Grange when they met Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium for their regular meeting and annual Christmas Party. Following the supper Harold Furniss, master, presided over the business session and heard the various reports.

The secretary, Helen Hamel, read a "Thank You" note from Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid for the arrangement at their Golden Wedding celebration.

The home economics chairman, Mrs. Francis Furniss announced that Star Grange will serve lunch at the Joe Rogers sale on Dec. 30 and asked members to help.

Harold Furniss, Master, presented Kenneth Reid, past master with a Past Masters pin. The program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel opened with group singing "Silent Night". Karen Reid gave a reading, "Unknown Glory" and Nancy Mogan read, "If He had not Come". Kevin Reid read, "Christmas in the Barn" and the Junior Grange members sang, "Jingle Bells". Those taking part were Kevin and Karen Reid, Craig Moore, Bruce Morgan and Bradley Reid. Mr. Joe Rogers gave a reading, "I Wish You a Merry Christmas" and Mrs. Rogers recited, "Santa's Cake."

The girls quartet, Melinda Finch, Nancy Morgan, Leslie Zimmerman and Cindy McKay, accompanied at the piano by Debbie Tallman sang "White Christmas", "Silver Bells", "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer", followed by group singing "Here Comes Santa Claus." A candle light service was held with each member holding a lighted candle and making a semi-circle while Mrs. Michel read, "Just A Symbol".

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus appeared and around the gaily lighted Christmas tree presented each member with a treat and an exchange gift.

This will be the last meeting in December. The next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 9.

Dentist Waits For Halloween

GARDNER, Mass. (AP) — There's a dentist in Gardner who can hardly wait for Halloween.

Dr. Charles E. Martel figured that most of the youngsters in his neighborhood probably would eat much more candy than was good for them, so last year he ordered a large supply of toothbrushes to give to the trick-or-treaters arriving at his front door.

The shipment was too late for Halloween of 1967, but on Nov. 1, 1968 those small fry will be able to brush those potential cavities away.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Economy was the big word this year on Capitol Hill, and few major federal spending programs emerged unscathed. But did the shears flash with equal consistency over congressmen's home district projects? Here is a revealing report on the fiscal record of the session just passed.

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of Congress talked a lot about budget-cutting economy, but many of the same members voted millions of dollars for new or bigger spending on projects of home state interest.

This emerges from a study of the record of the first session of the 90th Congress which adjourned last Friday on the eve of an election year.

For example: —Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., brought off a $1 billion foreign aid cut, the biggest in history, as chairman of a house subcommittee. He also won approval of an unbudgeted $40,000 seawall at Monroe in his north-east Louisiana district.

—Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., while frequently denouncing Johnson administration "Great Society" spending, was seeking an unbudgeted $728,000 to dredge a channel in Harrison County in his Mississippi Gulf Coast district.

—Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., supported efforts on the Senate floor to eliminate unbudgeted public works projects. But he earlier tried to get two for his home state, $225,000 for planning in connection with the Trinity River Basin project, and $25,000 for a comprehensive study of the Red River above Denison.

Such examples of "pork barrel" projects followed a well-established congressional pattern. Likewise, economists in Congress displayed little interest in reducing its own operations, the vast defense budget—which accounts for half of all federal spending—or such things as the supersonic transport, veterans benefits or the fight against Communism.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee put it into perspective Oct. 4 when he rebuked fellow committee member Gardner E. Shriver, a Kansas Republican.

Mahon noted that Shriver, who led the fight to cut foreign aid funds, has been "a star for economy in the Committee on Appropriations" but was opposing a reduction in federal school aid for his district.

"The gentleman from Kansas

wanted to achieve economy but not at the expense of his district. But I must say," Mahon added, "that most of all of us are alike in that regard."

Mahon was saying, in effect, that many who advocate budget slashing react quite differently when the needs of their own district are at stake.

A case in point is Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., who operates with Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, as the chief House watchdogs on spending and hidden costs.

"It is time a Congress which controls appropriations begins to cut off the water in budgets and debts at its source," Hall

HEART SURGERY—Born with a heart defect, Soterios Marmaris, 12, is helped from a plane by ground hostess Marie-Clair Schuerwerth at New York's Kennedy Airport after a flight from Cyprus, financed by funds contributed by Air France employees. He was to undergo corrective surgery at Children's Hospital.

Linder Heads Provident Bank

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl H. Linder, board chairman and president of the American Financial Corp., was selected Tuesday as the new president of the Provident Bank.

Linder, who became board chairman of Provident when American gained control of the bank in 1966, succeeds Frank J. Van Lahr, president of the bank since 1950.

Lahr was named vice chairman of the bank Monday.

told the House Feb. 8 in opposing an increase in the legal ceiling on the national debt.

But on March 14, the Missouri Republican wrote to the House Appropriations Committee asking it to add $125,000 to funds for range management and research in connection with conversion of brush land to pasture.

"I'm convinced this is an important program whose benefits are well worth the cost," Hall said in defense of his request to exceed President Johnson's budget requests.

On May 9, Hall argued before a closed session of an Appropriations subcommittee for a $6.5 million increase over budget estimates for construction at Kay-singer and Stockton reservoirs in his district.

But Hall also was making an "economy" record on the House floor by voting to cut appropriation bill spending by five per cent, and against some of the appropriations measures themselves.

He voted against the Treasury Post Office bill, the Interior measure and the independent offices bill, which contains urban housing funds. But like Gross, he supported the public works and agriculture measures.

When federal spending became a big issue, Rep. Charles E. Joelson, D-N.J., got quite a laugh when he suggested that one way to cut it would be for each member to make a list of projects in his district that could be eliminated.

Joelson, one of the sharper wits in Congress, brought the House down with an assurance: "I am willing to practice what I preach."

"If every member submits that list for his district," Joelson said, "I will be the 435th member to submit that list for my district."

At session's end, the House had cut appropriations bills by $6.2 billion below administration estimates. But $1.6 billion is in the defense budget, and a supplemental request for twice that amount is expected from the administration early next year.

And, as Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., complained, the Senate put some $4 billion back into the House-passed appropriations bills. Every additional proposed reduction was defeated by the Senate, he said, and only amendments adding to the total were approved.

Williams made an all-out effort to cut the public works appropriations bill but met little success.

President Johnson had asked for funds to start nine new public works projects. The House knocked out four while adding 16—including Otto Passman's seawall—for a total of 21. The Senate Appropriations Committee then restored the four and added another 25 for a total of 30.

Williams sought to knock out the 41 extra projects, involving total future commitments of $475 million, but lost 61 to 17. He then tried to cut the $4.7 billion bill by five per cent but lost 54 to 27.

Later in the year, when Congress made one major move to cut spending by passing a measure directing executive branch cuts of some $4.1 billion, Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., tried to include Congress and the courts.

"We are at war with waste and I do not want the legislative branch to operate as draft dodgers in that war," Mundt told the Senate he lost 44 to 29.

Some months earlier, however, he had voiced concern about the low rate of federal spending in South Dakota.

Whatever the result of congressional economy efforts, Republicans—especially in the House—claimed the chief credit.

"The heart and core of our united Republican effort has been the cutting back of federal expenditures for nonessential purposes," House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said.

But on Sept. 11, Ford joined a majority of the House in voting 225 to 23 to increase by $8 million the authorization for the Missouri River Basin project. So did such Missouri Valley economists as Hall, Gross, and Reps. John Kyl and William J. Scherle, Iowa Republicans.

Auto Makers Predict Big '68 Market

DETROIT (AP)—The top four men in the auto industry agreed Tuesday new car sales in 1968 would top the nine million mark.

Year end predictions of the four board chairmen—Henry Ford II of Ford Motor Co.; James M. Roche of General Motors; Lynn A. Townsend of Chrysler and Roy D. Chapin Jr. of American Motors—followed pretty much the same pattern.

They said this year's sales would wind up at about 8.4 million cars in the U.S. market.

Ford was the most optimistic as he foresaw a 9.3 million car year—just about equal to the record year of 1965—for next year. Ford attached a big "if" to his prediction, namely that no federal income tax increase would be put into effect by early January.

Roche and Townsend predicted sales would be over nine million but neither would get any more specific. Chapin settled on a forecast of a 9.1 to 9.2 million car sales year.

Chapin predicted his firm—American Motors—would up its sales to 300,000 next year compared with the 240,000 sales it chalked up in 1967. AMC officials said previously that 300,000 was the breakeven point in their auto operations.

With trucks and imports included, Roche anticipates total sales in the U.S. next year will amount to 10.7 million cars and trucks, which would be the highest total ever.

Such a development, he said, will depend on several things, including concern about Vietnam and the cost of the war, "questions of government expenditures, taxes and fiscal policy," and whatever eventual results English devaluation of the pound sterling may have.

3 Governors Get Together In Cincinnati

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—The governors of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana met Tuesday at Greater Cincinnati Airport and declared their willingness to look for ways to cooperate in the economic development of the tri-state area.

The meeting and the following news conference were delayed because Gov. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky and Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio arrived late. Governor Roger D. Branigin of Indiana showed up on time.

None of the governors aired any specific proposals for settling up the port authority that could be modeled on the New York Port Authority.

"The potential of a tri-state port authority to create jobs, and further economic development is unlimited," Rhodes said. "The Ohio River is more important than the Panama Canal."

Nunn said he agreed with this and said, "There's a vital concern for ports and river development in Kentucky, as shown by the fact that Kentucky set up a port authority in 1966."

The legislatures of all three states—and the Congress—would have to act favorably before any joint authority could be set up. Nunn said a proposal to set up the tri-state port authority may be submitted to the Kentucky Legislature early next year.

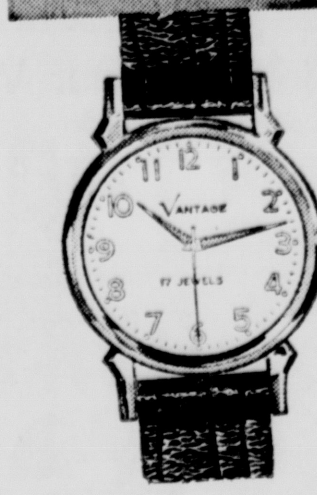

"It is by means of enterprises like this that states will show Washington they can do things for themselves," Branigin said of the project.

He said the three states have cooperated in the past on projects like combating pollution, beautification and tourism in the Ohio River Valley.

Pickaway Grange Report

STAR GRANGE

A carry-in supper was held by members of Star Grange when they met Tuesday evening in the Monroe School auditorium for their regular meeting and annual Christmas Party. Following the supper Harold Furniss, master, presided over the business session and heard the various reports.

The secretary, Helen Ham-mel, read a "Thank You" note from Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid for the arrangement at their Golden Wedding celebration.

The home economics chair-man, Mrs. Francis Furniss an-nounced that Star Grange will serve lunch at the Joe Rogers sale on Dec. 30 and asked mem-bers to help.

Harold Furniss, Master, pre-sented Kenneth Reid, past mas-ter with a Past Masters pin. The program under the direc-tion of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mic-el opened with group singing "Silent Night". Karen Reid gave a reading, "Unknown Glory" and Nancy Mogan read, "If He had not Come". Kevin Reid read, "Christmas in the Barn" and the Junior Grange members sang, "Jingle Bells".

Those taking part were Kevin and Karen Reid, Craig Moore, Bruce Morgan and Bradley Reid. Mr. Joe Rogers gave a reading, "I Wish You a Mer-ry Christmas" and Mrs. Rogers recited, "Santa's Cake."

The girls quartet, Melinda Finch, Nancy Morgan, Leslie Zimmerman and Cindy McKay, accompanied at the piano by Debbie Tallman sang "White Christmas", "Silver Bells", Rudolph the Red Nose Rein-deer", followed by group singing "Here Comes Santa Claus." A candle light service was held with each member holding a lighted candle and making a semi-circle while Mrs. Michel read, "Just A Symbol".

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus ap-peared and around the gaily lighted Christmas tree presented each member with a treat and an exchange gift.

This will be the last meeting in December. The next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 9.

Dentist Waits For Halloween

GARDNER, Mass. (AP) — There's a dentist in Gardner who can hardly wait for Hallow-ween.

Dr. Charles E. Martel figured that most of the youngsters in his neighborhood probably would eat much more candy than was good for them, so last year he ordered a large supply of toothbrushes to give to the trick-or-treaters arriving at his front door.

The shipment was too late for Halloween of 1967, but on Nov. 1, 1968 those small fry will be able to brush those potential cavities away.

Solons Talk Much, Do Little On Economy

EDITOR'S NOTE: Economy was the big word this year on Capitol Hill, and few major fed-eral spending programs emerged unscathed. But did the shears flash with equal consist-ency over congressmen's home district projects? Here is a re-vealing report on the fiscal record of the session just passed.

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many

members of Congress talked a lot about budget-cutting econ-omy, but many of the same members voted millions of dol-lars for new or bigger spending on projects of home state inter-est.

This emerges from a study of the record of the first session of the 90th Congress which ad-journed last Friday on the eve of an election year.

For example: —Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., brought off a $1 billion for-ign aid cut, the biggest in his-tory, as chairman of a house subcommittee. He also won ap-proval of an unbudgeted $40,000 seawall at Monroe in his north-east Louisiana district.

—Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., while frequently de-nouncing Johnson administra-tion "Great Society" spending, was seeking an unbudgeted $728,000 to dredge a channel in Harrison County in his Missis-sippi Gulf Coast district.

—Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., supported efforts on the Senate floor to eliminate unbudgeted public works projects. But he earlier tried to get two for his home state, $225,000 for plan-ning in connection with the Trin-ity River Basin project, and $25,000 for a comprehensive study of the Red River above Denison.

Such examples of "pork bar-rel" projects followed a well-es-tablished congressional pattern. Likewise, economists in Con-gress displayed little interest in reducing its own operations, the vast defense budget—which ac-counts for half of all federal spending—or such things as the supersonic transport, veterans benefits or the fight against Communism.

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropria-tions Committee put it into per-spective Oct. 4 when he rebuked fellow committee member Gar-ner E. Shriver, a Kansas Rep-ublican.

Mahon noted that Shriver, who led the fight to cut foreign aid funds, has been "a star for economy in the Committee on Appropriations" but was oppos-ing a reduction in federal school aid for his district.

"The gentleman from Kansas

wanted to achieve economy but not at the expense of his dis-trict. But I must say," Mahon added, "that most of all of us are alike in that regard."

Mahon was saying, in effect, that many who advocate budget slashing react quite differently when the needs of their own dis-trict are at stake.

A case in point is Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., who op-erates with Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, as the chief House watch-dogs on spending and hidden costs.

"It is time a Congress which controls appropriations begins to cut off the water in budgets and debts at its source," Hall told the House Feb. 8 in oppos-ing an increase in the legal ceil-ing on the national debt.

But on March 14, the Missouri Republican wrote to the House Appropriations Committee ask-ing it to add $125,000 to funds for range management and re-search in connection with con-VERSION of brush land to pasture.

"I'm convinced this is an im-portant program whose benefits are well worth the cost," Hall said in defense of his request to exceed President Johnson's budget requests.

On May 9, Hall argued before a closed session of an Appropria-tions subcommittee for a $6.5 million increase over budget es-timates for construction at Kay-singer and Stockton reservoirs in his district.

But Hall also was making an "economy" record on the House floor by voting to cut appropria-tion bill spending by five per-cent, and against some of the appropriations measures them-selves.

He voted against the Treasury Post Office bill, the Interior measure and the independent offices bill, which contains ur-ban housing funds. But like Gross, he supported the public works and agriculture mea-sures.

When federal spending be-came a big issue, Rep. Charles E. Joelson, D-N.J., got quite a laugh when he suggested that one way to cut it would be for each member to make a list of projects in his district that could be eliminated.

Joelson, one of the sharper wits in Congress, brought the House down with an assurance: "I am willing to practice what I preach."

"If every member submits that list for his district," Joel-son said, "I will be the 435th member to submit that list for my district."

At session's end, the House

had cut appropriations bills by $6.2 billion below administration estimates. But $1.6 billion is in the defense budget, and a sup-plemental request for twice that amount is expected from the ad-ministration early next year.

And, as Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., complained, the Senate put some $4 billion back into the House-passed appropriations bills. Every additional proposed reduction was defeated by the Senate, he said, and only amendments adding to the total were approved.

Williams made an all-out ef-fort to cut the public works ap-propropriations bill but met little success.

President Johnson had asked for funds to start nine new pub-lic works projects. The House knocked out four while adding 16—including Otto Passman's seawall—for a total of 21. The Senate Appropriations Commit-tee then restored the four and added another 25 for a total of 30.

Williams sought to knock out the 41 extra projects, involving total future commitments of $475 million, but lost 61 to 17. He then tried to cut the $4.7 billion bill by five per cent but lost 54 to 27.

Auto Makers Predict Big '68 Market

DETROIT (AP)—The top four men in the auto industry agreed Tuesday new car sales in 1968 would top the nine million mark.

Year end predictions of the four board chairmen—Henry Ford II of Ford Motor Co.; James M. Roche of General Motors; Lynn A. Townsend of Chrysler and Roy D. Chapin Jr. of American Motors—followed pretty much the same pattern.

They said this year's sales would wind up at about 8.4 million cars in the U.S. market.

Ford was the most optimistic as he foresaw a 9.3 million car year—just about equal to the record year of 1965—for next year. Ford attached a big "if" to his prediction, namely that no federal income tax increase would be put into effect by early January.

Roche and Townsend predicted sales would be over nine mil-lion but neither would get any more specific. Chapin settled on a forecast of a 9.1 to 9.2 million car sales year.

Chapin predicted his firm — American Motors—would up its sales to 300,000 next year com-pared with the 240,000 sales it chalked up in 1967. AMC offi-cials said previously that 300,000 was the breakeven point in their auto operations.

With trucks and imports in-cluded, Roche anticipates total sales in the U.S. next year will amount to 10.7 million cars and trucks, which would be the high-est total ever.

Such a development, he said, will depend on several things, including concern about Viet-nam and the cost of the war, "questions of government ex-penditures, taxes and fiscal pol-icy," and whatever eventual re-sults English devaluation of the pound sterling may have.

3 Governors Get Together In Cincinnati

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—The governors of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana met Tuesday at Greater Cincinnati Airport and declared their willingness to look for ways to cooperate in the economic development of the tri-state area.

The meeting and the following news conference were delayed because Gov. Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky and Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio arrived late. Governor Roger D. Branigin of Indiana showed up on time.

None of the governors aired any specific proposals for set-ting up the port authority that could be modeled on the New York Port Authority.

"The potential of a tri-state port authority to create jobs, and further economic develop-ment is unlimited," Rhodes said. "The Ohio River is more im-portant than the Panama Can-al."

Nunn said he agreed with this and said, "There's a vital con-cern for ports and river devel-opment in Kentucky, as shown by the fact that Kentucky set up a port authority in 1966."

The legislatures of all three states—and the Congress—would have to act favorably before any joint authority could be set up. Nunn said a proposal to set up the tri-state port au-thority may be submitted to the Kentucky Legislature early next year.

"It is by means of enter-prises like this that states will show Washington they can do things for themselves," Branigin said of the project.

He said the three states have cooperated in the past on pro-jects like combating pollution, beautification and tourism in the Ohio River Valley.

HEART SURGERY—Born with a heart defect, Soterios Marmaris, 12, is helped from a plane by ground hostess Marie-Clair Schuerwegh at New York's Kennedy Air-port after a flight from Cyprus, financed by funds contributed by Air France employees. He was to under-go corrective surgery at Children's Hospital.

Linder Heads Provident Bank

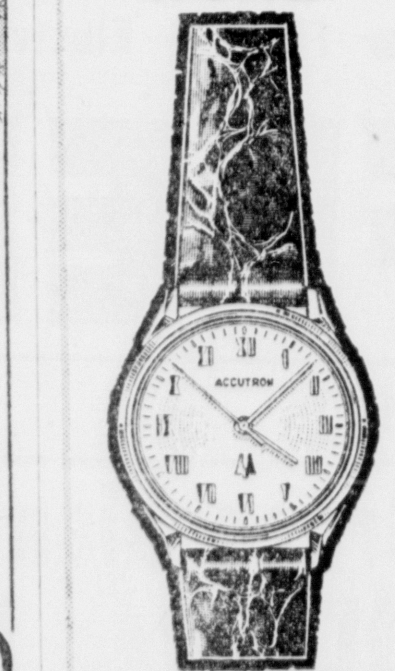

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carl H. Linder, board chairman and president of the American Financial Corp., was selected Tuesday as the new president of the Provident Bank.

Linder, who became board chairman of Provident when American gained control of the bank in 1966, succeeds Frank J. Van Lahr, president of the bank since 1950.

Lahr was named vice chair-man of the bank Monday.

Later in the year, when Con-gress made one major move to cut spending by passing a mea-sure directing executive branch cuts of some $4.1 billion, Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., tried to include Congress and the courts.

"We are at war with waste and I do not want the legislative branch to operate as draft dod-gers in that war," Mundt told the Senate he lost 44 to 29.

Some months earlier, howev-er, he had voiced concern about the low rate of federal spending in South Dakota.

Whatever the result of congressional economy efforts, Republicans—especially in the House—claimed the chief credit.

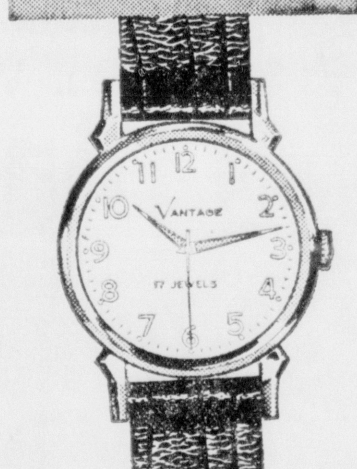

"The heart and core of our united Republican effort has been the cutting back of federal expenditures for nonessential purposes," House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Mich-igan said.

But on Sept. 11, Ford joined a majority of the House in voting 225 to 83 to increase by $8 mil-lion the authorization for the Missouri River Basin project. So did such Missouri Valley economists as Hall, Gross, and Reps. John Kyl and William J. Scherle, Iowa Republicans.

The Critical Clan in Nazareth

EDITOR'S NOTE — Jesus lived in the midst of a warm and protective family. Although compassionate, the hometown relatives in Nazareth were sometimes puzzled by him, sometimes skeptical of him and sometimes critical of him. The following is the second in a five-part Christmas series dealing with the kinsmen of Christ.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Like intermittent scenes clipped from a film reel, the poignant domestic drama unfolds. It shows Jesus in the midst of that fold. That's the protectively insulating impulse of staunch families. But responsibility extends beyond the refuge, even though it may strain the comforting ties.

In that larger obligation, Jesus once said, "a man's foes will be those of his own household." It's an aching tension.

A succession of scenes portray it in his case, swift, brief glimpses interspersed throughout the gospel accounts, showing both the strong attachments of that Davidic clan, and also the painful pull of duty beyond it.

Scene I: A familiar episode, it took place in Jesus' boyhood on one of those tribal pilgrimages to Jerusalem for the Passover celebration, a merry, festive trip which devout, economically able Jews made each spring.

Big families formed caravans for it, relatives from the same region traveling together. It was a week-long holiday outing, including the young when they reached 12. That year, Jesus went along for the first time.

On the way back to Galilee, so large and companionably mixed was that family throng that it had gone a day's journey before Jesus was missed. A halt, a whirl of inquiries, and an anxious Joseph and Mary headed back alone to the city.

For three days, they searched without rest. Finally, desperate and worn out, they found him on a colonnaded Temple porch with a group of learned scholars, engrossed in conversation.

Relieved, but annoyed at the distress he had caused them, his mother demanded, "Son, why have you treated us so? Behold, your father and I have been looking for you anxiously."

Jesus looked at them with earnest appeal. How is it that you sought me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?"

They didn't understand his meaning, Scripture notes. It eluded them, baffled them, silenced them. Their eyes clouded, they hugged the boy and let it go.

It was the last recorded episode in which Mary's upright, older husband, Joseph, figured. Tradition says he died shortly afterward. But it was only the start of that chain of perplexing incidents which reflected the family solicitude, its dim and difficulty.

Scene II: "He came to his own home, and his own people received him not" the gospel of John reports. This happened after the initial phases of his ministry in the outlying towns of Galilee had stirred wide attention.

Returning to Nazareth, he was invited to lead synagogue service.

ices. He chose a trenchant passage from the prophet Isaiah: "The Spirit of the Lord . . . has anointed me to preach good news to the poor . . . to proclaim release to the captives . . . to set at liberty those who are oppressed."

He rolled up the scroll, adding, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your ears."

The townspeople, knowing him from his simple barefoot boyhood and as an ordinary maker of plows and yokes, were shocked by his monumental claim. "Is not this Joseph's son?" they whispered. "Where did this man get all this?"

Familiarity with him, his family, glazed their eyes with cynicism. "Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joseph and Judas and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?"

Amid the skepticism, he lanced them further, saying that those face-to-face with truth often blindly rejected it, so that its blessings were bestowed elsewhere, even beyond the pale of God's chosen Jewish people.

"A prophet is not without honor," he said, "except in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house." They were incensed. A commotion began, turning into furious disorder.

A mob seized him and intended to hurl him off a cliff. His brothers, even though not believing him, may have tried helplessly to stop them. But something else did — his own commanding dignity, a convincing look, his stunning calm.

The crowd hesitated. "Passing through the midst of them he went away," the record says. And he never returned to the family hearthside in Nazareth. It hurt him. Pathetically, he said, "Blessed is he who takes no offense at me."

Scene III: As excitement about him swirled elsewhere, his hometown friends shook their heads, saying, "He is beside himself!" Officials denounced him. His relatives were worried to distraction.

At length, to caution him, his mother and brothers went to Capernaum where he had made his headquarters. A crowd overflowed a synagogue where he was preaching, clogging the entranceway. Someone recognized the family and passed word up to him. "Your mother and your brothers are outside, asking for you."

He looked back toward them, his eyes caressing them, but that other wider responsibility held him. "Who are my mother and my brothers?" Gazing about at the people, strangers from far and near, he spread his arms and added:

"Here are my mother and my brothers! Whoever does the will of God is my brother, and sister, and mother."

Scene IV: His renown grew throughout the province. But so did resentment of local officials, including Rome's puppet, King Herod Antipas. Court rumors circulated that he would be arrested, executed. Some shaky followers withdrew support.

His family was alarmed. Jesus was temporarily encamped with his men in an isolated ravine. His brothers went to see him with a proposition they thought might get him out of immediate jeopardy, perhaps win him prestige in powerful Jerusalem circles.

"Leave here and go to Judea," the brothers advised. They doubted his whole mission but to test it, and for safety, wanted him to leave explosive Galilee and go the capital city. "For no man works in secret if he seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, show yourself to the world."

Jesus studied them silently, perhaps remembering their childhood comradeship and trust, knowing the differences now between them.

"My time has not yet come, but your time is always here," he told them. They had married, borne sons, had respect of the community. "The world can not hate you, but it hates me . . . Go to the feast yourselves; I am not going . . ."

Instead of joining the family caravan to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Tabernacles and making a public display, he went up secretly. His brothers "did not believe in him," the gospel states. He had to go without them, without the embracing confidence of that clan whose life he had shared.

It was not until after his crucifixion that they came to believe in him, his brothers and women kin joining the apostles in prayer "with one accord," the Book of Acts notes. The brothers later became leaders in a faith which they were so long in recognizing, even though, or perhaps because, it was so close to them — on their own street, in their own family, in their own everyday habitation. Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Tricks of the Trade from a Painter

DEAR ABBY: In defense of the interior decorator whose "advances" the lady said she had to fight off: I have been a painter for many years, and have been around all kinds of women. I have them categorized:

There is the "clutcher." She is always wearing a housecoat that's open. She keeps clutching it and releasing it, but she never closes it. Then there's the body beautiful type who is always dressed for swimming or sunbathing. The sun hasn't been out for a week and the pool is empty, but she's got her suit on. There's the stepladder mama. If I'm up, she's down with a very low-neck blouse. If I'm down, she's up with the other end exposed.

Then there's the confidential type. She tells you all her problems, one of which is a husband who is too cold, too old or too busy. Then there's the woman with the jokes. Always dirty. And lastly there's the outright propositioner.

I have seen them all. Years ago a very wise painter who knew all the tricks of the trade, gave me some very good advice. He said, "Sammy, always get your money first and if they still want to play games, it will be for fun." Sincerely,

SAMMY

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you advise the girl who was jealous because her boy friend had SHARON tattooed on his chest to have "I LOVE MILLIE MORE THAN SHARON" tattooed over it. That's what I did.

WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I figured the guy had already had enough needling.

DEAR ABBY: Just yesterday I found out that the "diamond" engagement ring I received from my gentleman friend is not a real diamond. The gentleman who gave it to me is a wonderful person and I would not have thought less of him were I given none at all. But to have been given one that is "only a fake" as the jeweler put it, hurts me 'so, I don't know what to do. This gentleman has been so good and kind to me, I almost can't believe he would do such a thing. This was going to be the second marriage for both of us.

I don't want to lose him by making him feel that having a real diamond is all that important to me. It isn't, yet I hate to be fooled. Everything depends on how I react. I can't just pretend I don't know. Yet if I make too much of it, it may be fatal. Can you please help me?

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Assuming the ring is "only a fake" either your gentleman friend was also taken in, or he is trying to fool you. In either case, you must tell him that you were told the stone is not a genuine diamond, stressing that the value of the stone is of less importance to you than the value of his word.

Sir Thomas More Gets No Pardon

LONDON (AP) — Sir Thomas More, who was beheaded because he would not recognize Henry VIII as head of the English church, will not be granted a pardon, Home Secretary James Callaghan has ruled 400 years later.

Benjamin Whitaker, a Roman Catholic member of parliament, suggested that More, who was convicted of high treason, be given a posthumous pardon because a plaque commemorating his trial is unveiled next year in Westminster Hall.

Callaghan gave no reason for his refusal.

More, whose life was dramatized in the play and the movie "A Man for All Seasons," lived from 1478 to 1535, when he was beheaded on King Henry's order. He had succeeded Cardinal Wolsey as Lord Chancellor of England.

The Critical Clan in Nazareth

EDITOR'S NOTE — Jesus lived in the midst of a warm and protective family. Although compassionate, the hometown relatives in Nazareth were sometimes puzzled by him, sometimes skeptical of him and sometimes critical of him. The following is the second in a five-part Christmas series dealing with the kinsmen of Christ.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Like intermittent scenes clipped from a film reel, the poignant domestic drama unfolds. It shows Jesus in the midst of that fold. That's the protectively insulating impulse of staunch families. But responsibility extends beyond the refuge, even though it may strain the comforting ties.

In that larger obligation, Jesus once said, "a man's foes will be those of his own household." It's an aching tension.

A succession of scenes portray it in his case, swift, brief glimpses interspersed throughout the gospel accounts, showing both the strong attachments of that Davidic clan, and also the painful pull of duty beyond it.

Scene I: A familiar episode, it took place in Jesus' boyhood on one of those tribal pilgrimages to Jerusalem for the Passover celebration, a merry, festive trip which devout, economically able Jews made each spring.

Big families formed caravans for it, relatives from the same region traveling together. It was a week-long holiday outing, including the young when they reached 12. That year, Jesus went along for the first time.

On the way back to Galilee, so large and companionably mixed was that family journey that it had gone a day's journey before Jesus was missed. A halt, a whirl of inquiries, and an anxious Joseph and Mary headed back alone to the city.

For three days, they searched without rest. Finally, desperate and worn out, they found him on a colonnaded Temple porch with a group of learned scholars, engrossed in conversation.

Relieved, but annoyed at the distress he had caused them, his mother demanded, "Son, why have you treated us so? Behold, your father and I have been looking for you anxiously." Jesus looked at them with earnest appeal. How is it that you sought me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?

They didn't understand his meaning, Scripture notes. It eluded them, baffled them, silenced them. Their eyes clouded, they hugged the boy and let it go.

It was the last recorded episode in which Mary's upright, older husband, Joseph, figured. Tradition says he died shortly afterward. But it was only the start of that chain of perplexing incidents which reflected the family solicitude, its dim and difficulty.

Scene II: "He came to his own home, and his own people received him not" the gospel of John reports. This happened after the initial phases of his ministry in the outlying towns of Galilee had stirred wide attention.

Returning to Nazareth, he was invited to lead synagogue service.

ices. He chose a trenchant passage from the prophet Isaiah: "The Spirit of the Lord . . . has anointed me to preach good news to the poor . . . to proclaim release to the captives . . . to set at liberty those who are oppressed."

He rolled up the scroll, adding, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your ears."

The townspeople, knowing him from his simple barefoot boyhood and as an ordinary maker of plows and yokes, were shocked by his monumental claim. "Is not this Joseph's son?" they whispered. "Where did this man get all this?"

Familiarity with him, his family, glazed their eyes with cynicism. "Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joseph and Judas and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?"

Amid the skepticism, he lanced them further, saying that those face-to-face with truth often blindly rejected it, so that its blessings were bestowed elsewhere, even beyond the pale of God's chosen Jewish people.

"A prophet is not without honor," he said, "except in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house." They were incensed. A commotion began, turning into furious disorder.

A mob seized him and intended to hurl him off a cliff. His brothers, even though not believing him, may have tried helplessly to stop them. But something else did — his own commanding dignity, a convincing look, his stunning calm.

The crowd hesitated. "Passing through the midst of them he went away," the record says. And he never returned to the family hearthside in Nazareth. It hurt him. Pathetically, he said, "Blessed is he who takes no offense at me."

Scene III: As excitement about him swirled elsewhere, his hometown friends shook their heads, saying, "He is beside himself!" Officials denounced him. His relatives were worried to distraction.

At length, to caution him, his mother and brothers went to Capernaum where he had made his headquarters. A crowd overflowed a synagogue where he was preaching, clogging the entranceway. Someone recognized the family and passed word up to him. "Your mother and your brothers are outside, asking for you."

He looked back toward them, his eyes caressing them, but that other wider responsibility held him. "Who are my mother and my brothers?" Gazing about at the people, strangers from far and near, he spread his arms and added:

"Here are my mother and my brothers! Whoever does the will of God is my brother, and sister, and mother."

Scene IV: His renown grew throughout the province. But so did resentment of local officials, including Rome's puppet, King Herod Antipas. Court rumors circulated that he would be arrested, executed. Some shaky followers withdrew support.

His family was alarmed. Jesus was temporarily encamped with his men in an isolated ravine. His brothers went to see him with a proposition they thought might get him out of immediate jeopardy, perhaps win him prestige in powerful Jerusalem circles.

"Leave here and go to Judea," the brothers advised. They doubted his whole mission but to test it, and for safety, wanted him to leave explosive Galilee and go the capital city. "For no man works in secret if he seeks to be known openly. If you do these things, show yourself to the world."

Jesus studied them silently, perhaps remembering their childhood comradeship and trust, knowing the differences now between them.

"My time has not yet come, but your time is always here," he told them. They had married, borne sons, had respect of the community. "The world can't hate you, but it hates me . . . Go to the feast yourselves; I am not going . . ."

Instead of joining the family caravan to Jerusalem for the Feast of the Tabernacles and making a public display, he went up secretly. His brothers "did not believe in him," the gospel states. He had to go without them, without the embracing confidence of that clan whose life he had shared.

It was not until after his crucifixion that they came to believe in him, his brothers and women kin joining the apostles in prayer "with one accord," the Book of Acts notes. The brothers later became leaders in a faith which they were so long in recognizing, even though, or perhaps because, it was so close to them — on their own street, in their own family, in their own everyday habitation. Tricks of the Trade from a Painter

DEAR ABBY: In defense of the interior decorator whose "advances" the lady said she had to fight off: I have been a painter for many years, and have been around all kinds of women. I have them categorized:

There is the "clutcher." She is always wearing a housecoat that's open. She keeps clutching it and releasing it, but she never closes it. Then there's the body beautiful type who is always dressed for swimming or sunbathing. The sun hasn't been out for a week and the pool is empty, but she's got her suit on. There's the stepladder mama. If I'm up, she's down with a very low-neck blouse. If I'm down, she's up with the other end exposed.

Then there's the confidential type. She tells you all her problems, one of which is a husband who is too cold, too old or too busy. Then there's the woman with the jokes. Always dirty. And lastly there's the outright propositioner.

I have seen them all. Years ago a very wise painter who knew all the tricks of the trade, gave me some very good advice. He said, "Sammy, always get your money first and if they still want to play games, it will be for fun." Sincerely,

SAMMY
DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you advise the girl who was jealous because her boy friend had SHARON tattooed on his chest to have "I LOVE MILLIE MORE THAN SHARON" tattooed over it. That's what I did.

WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I figured the guy had already had enough needling.

DEAR ABBY: Just yesterday I found out that the "diamond" engagement ring I received from my gentleman friend is not a real diamond. The gentleman who gave it to me is a wonderful person and I would not have thought less of him were I given none at all. But to have been given one that is "only a fake" as the jeweler put it, hurts me 'so, I don't know what to do. This gentleman has been so good and kind to me, I almost can't believe he would do such a thing. This was going to be the second marriage for both of us.

I don't want to lose him by making him feel that having a real diamond is all that important to me. It isn't, yet I hate to be fooled. Everything depends on how I react. I can't just pretend I don't know. Yet if I make too much of it, it may be fatal. Can you please help me?

WAITING
DEAR WAITING: Assuming the ring IS "only a fake" either your gentleman friend was also taken in, or he is trying to fool you. In either case, you must tell him that you were told the stone is not a genuine diamond, stressing that the value of the stone is of less importance to you than the value of his word.

Ohio's Shoppers Choosier in '67

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Christmas shoppers in Ohio are choosier this year and they seem to be buying a little more at higher prices.

"The public is buying much better priced merchandise," reported John Macklin, executive director of the Columbus Retail Merchants Association.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland confirmed sales at metropolitan department stores in its district — portions of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia — were up. It estimated Christmas sales for the week ending Dec. 9 were up 3 per cent over the same week a year ago.

The trend toward increased buying of quality merchandise

McGovern Hits Wheeler Talk On Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern describes as "irresponsible and irrelevant" what he calls a bid by the top U.S. military leader to charge antiwar dissenters with fueling North Vietnam's victory hopes.

McGovern, a South Dakota Democrat and war policy critic, said Tuesday that Gen. Earle G. Wheeler is "blaming Hanoi's refusal to surrender on American critics of U.S. Vietnam policy."

He referred to a Detroit speech Sunday in which Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Americans have a right to dissent "but they also have a responsibility to recognize and acknowledge what their dissent means." Wheeler said Hanoi is counting on dissent to change U.S. policy.

"The Pentagon and State Department are running out of excuses," said McGovern, "so now they are blaming the failure of their policy on those who warned all along that it wouldn't work."

"Some of us believe that this war is not in the national interest and that our sons are being made the victims of a misguided diplomacy and military strategy," said McGovern, adding:

"As responsible Americans we cannot swallow our honestly held convictions merely because Gen. Wheeler is guessing that our views might be misread in Hanoi."

President Johnson's Vietnam policy won backing meanwhile from 14 eminent scholars of Asian affairs, who said that "to accept a Communist victory in Vietnam would serve as a major encouragement to those forces in the world opposing peaceful coexistence, to those elements committed to the thesis that violence is the best means of effecting change."

The report was the result of a three-day conference of American scholars of Asia who met in Tuxedo, N.Y., under auspices of the new Freedom House Public Affairs Institute.

A 39-day transit strike failed to dampen buying at Cincinnati where a spokesman for Shillito's, a Federated department store, said "sales are running ahead of last year."

The Christmas shopping hit its peak this week but in spite of the usual last frantic days no major stock shortages were reported.

Highbee's, May Co. and Halle Bros., all Cleveland department stores report excellent sales.

Largest gains over 1966 for the week ending Dec. 9 were Toledo 10 per cent; Columbus 9 per cent and Akron 8 per cent. Cleveland was less than a half of one per cent ahead for the week.

GM, Union Set Pact

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) Tuesday announced agreement on a new three-year contract covering 27,000 workers represented by the United Auto Workers, estimated to raise labor costs at roughly 6 per cent a year for the next three years.

The contract would become effective the Monday after the company receives notice of ratification and will expire Sept. 14, 1970.

Like the UAW contract, the IUE contract calls for an immediate general wage increase of 20 cents an hour and an additional 30 cents an hour for skilled tradesmen. Wages will be raised by nine to 16 cents an hour, depending on the employee's base rate, in each of the last two years of the contract.

The plants are Frigidaire, Dayton, Ohio; Delco Products' two plants at Dayton and Rochester, N.Y.; Delco Battery in New Brunswick, N.J.; and Packard Electric in Warren, Ohio.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three bowling alleys filed suit in U.S. District Court Tuesday for $3,294,600 against Brunswick Corp., charging the firm with "fraud and deceit" in selling bowling machinery.

The alleys charged that Brunswick went back on an agreement not to sell its equipment to similar bowling establishments in a five-mile radius of their operations.

The alleys are Shoregate Bowling Centers, Inc., Willowick; Lincolnway Lanes, Inc.; Massillon, and Center Lanes, Inc., of Newport, Ky.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

It was clear over most of Ohio Tuesday night, with patches of fog in some areas. Early morning temperatures ranged from the mid-20s in the northern counties to the upper 30s near the Ohio River.

Considerable sunshine was forecast again today, with temperatures again mild.

Showers are predicted for Ohio on Thursday, with temperatures well above normal. But a trend to colder weather Friday should bring more normal temperatures for the week-end.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and mild tonight, lows in lower 40s southwest third and in the 30s elsewhere. Thursday mostly cloudy and warmer with scattered showers.

CENTRAL AND SOUTHEAST OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight, low in mid 30s. Thursday cloudy and warm with chance of showers.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST AND EAST CENTRAL OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight, lows in 30s. Thursday mostly cloudy and warmer with scattered showers.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Partly cloudy and not as cold tonight, low 38-43. Thursday mostly cloudy and warmer with chance of afternoon showers.

Christmas Unconstitutional, Some Claim

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Debate has broken out in various parts of the country this holiday season over the question: "Is Christmas unconstitutional?"

A number of people argue that some aspects of it are, including Christmas decorations with a religious motif in public places such as schools.

Others contend that school singing of Christmas carols associated with religion also runs afoul of the First Amendment, which provides for the separation of church and state.

Mayor Norman A. Myers of Overland, Mo., was stunned by a letter from two lawyers demanding on constitutional grounds, the removal of a nativity scene from the City Hall lawn.

The mayor said he would ignore the letter and commented: "If this is the type of Constitution we are living under, it certainly is in line for revision."

In Duluth, Minn., an unbeliever named Garry DeYoung, 44, took umbrage when one of his children brought home a program indicating that traditional carols would form a part of a school Christmas program.

DeYoung asserted that "the school's use of a religious holiday to present a religiously oriented program constitutes an affront to non-Christians and is a direct violation of the First Amendment."

After taking counsel with the school board attorney, Principal Donald Olson deleted the carols from the program.

The Florida branch of the American Civil Liberties Union advised school officials throughout the state that Christmas pageants with a religious content are unconstitutional and should be avoided. Reaction in general was outraged. Said Sheriff Leigh Wilson of Brevard County: "If I am handed a warrant to arrest some teacher, somebody else will have to serve it—I won't."

In Eugene, Ore., defenders of the Constitution obtained a court order forbidding the city to light up a 40-foot cross which is erected each year in a municipal park. City officials turned on the lights and appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The New Mexico branch of the Civil Liberties Union wrote the State Department of Education objecting to Christmas religious programs in the schools.

The department sent copies of the union's letter to all school superintendents with no recommendation one way or the other.

But in the same envelopes went copies of a retort by Albuquerque school officials saying that the observance of Christmas is as much cultural as religious and that they intended to continue it.

In East Paterson, N.J., Mrs. Shirley Friedman stood up at a school board meeting and objected to paintings of Christ and other biblical figures on windows and doors of the Memorial Junior-Senior High School.

The 10 board members walked out of the school, where they were meeting, looked at the decorations, walked back in and went on to the next order of business without taking any action on the protest.

Sentence Delayed

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Ernest Kelley, 42, Mansfield convicted Tuesday night in the fatal shooting of a friend last year, will be sentenced shortly after the first of the year.

A common pleas jury found Kelley guilty of first-degree manslaughter in the death of Charles Brown, 41, during a dice game at a Mansfield residence on Dec. 6, 1966.

slightly above normal, with highs in the upper 30s and low 40s and nighttime lows in the upper 20s and low 30s. Mild until cooler Saturday and Sunday. Showers late Thursday and Friday changing to scattered snow flurries mostly north over the weekend. Precipitation will average about .5 inch liquid.

Ohio's Shoppers Choosier in '67

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Christmas shoppers in Ohio are choosier this year and they seem to be buying a little more at higher prices.

"The public is buying much better priced merchandise," reported John Macklin, executive director of the Columbus Retail Merchants Association.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland confirmed sales at metropolitan department stores in its district — portions of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia — were up. It estimated Christmas sales for the week ending Dec. 9 were up 3 per cent over the same week a year ago.

AFL All Star Team Chosen

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Six members of Oakland's Western Division champions dominate the American Football League All Star team selected for The Associated Press by a panel of 27 sports writers and broadcasters from across the country and released today.

The Raiders' balance was demonstrated in the voting by three-man committees from each of the AFL's nine cities with three Oakland players named to the offensive team and three to the defensive squad.

Heading the Oakland contin-gent is quarterback Daryle Lamoni, who has piloted the Raiders to their first divisional crown and leads the league in passing. He has thrown 29 touchdown passes, tops in the league.

Joining Lamoni on the offensive squad from Oakland are tight end Billy Cannon, who switched from running back two years ago and developed into a top pass catcher this season, and Jim Otto, a heavy choice at center.

In the backfield with Lamoni are Boston's muscular Jim Nance, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards for the second straight season, and Kansas City's evasive Mike Garrett at the running backs.

Fleet Lance Alworth of San Diego was a nearly unanimous choice at flanker and George Sauer of New York, the AFL's top pass catcher, won the split end job. Nance and Alworth are repeaters from last year.

Up front on the offensive unit, Kansas City's Jim Tyrer and San Diego's Ron Mix, both repeaters, are the tackles, with San Diego's Walt Sweeney and Houston's Bob Talamoni nailing down the guard spots.

Defensively, Oakland, Houston and Kansas City dominated the voting with three berths each.

Selected from the Raiders were mammoth Ben Davidson, a 6-foot-7 defensive end, tackle Tom Keating and corner back Kent McCloughan.

Houston placed corner line-backer George Webster, the only rookie to make the team, defensive end Pat Holmes, and corner back Miller Farr, who returned three of his eight interceptions for touchdowns.

Picked from Kansas City were tackle Buck Buchanan, a massive 6-7, 287 pounds, line-backer Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Nick Buoniconti, Coston's middle linebacker, and Buffalo safety George Saines are the other defensive picks.

Buchanan, Buoniconti, Bell, Robinson and McCloughan all are repeaters from last year's defensive team.

Overall, there were 14 players chosen from the Western Division and eight from the Eastern Division. Oakland had six selections, Kansas City five, Houston four, San Diego three, Boston two and New York and Buffalo one each.

Only Miami and Denver, tailenders in the Eastern and Western Divisions, failed to place a man on the first team.

Davidson Keeps Pounding Beats Temple In Cage Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Some folks laughed when Davidson, beaten in 12 of 27 games last season, made the Top Ten in The Associated Press preseason poll in college basketball.

They're not laughing any more at the Southern Conference Wildcats, who have won seven of eight games and lost only to third-ranked Vanderbilt by two points 81-79 in overtime.

The Wildcats, sixth-ranked in this week's AP poll, made previously unbeaten Temple their latest victims in the final of the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational Tournament Tuesday night.

Paced by the 6-foot-6 Mike Maloy, a sophomore from New York City who was voted the Most Valuable Player of the tournament, the Wildcats downed the Owls from Philadelphia 63-60.

Maloy made only 11 points, but his floor generalship was superb and drew praise from Coach Lefty Driesell. "He's so quick, he's unreal," Driesell said. "He has every move in the book under the hoop."

Fifth-ranked Indiana, Duke, St. Bonaventure, Louisville, Cincinnati, Wyoming and Louisiana

State won in other major games.

Indiana, led by Earl Schneider's 23 points, beat Notre Dame 96-91 at Fort Wayne, despite Bob Whitmore's 30 points for the Irish.

Onrushing Duke, another team beaten only by Vanderbilt and that by one point, whipped Princeton 85-79 at Durham, N.C., behind Mike Lewis' 33 points and 20 rebounds.

Bob Lanier and Bill Butler combined for 50 points, each got 25, to lead St. Bonaventure to an 83-77 victory over Seattle in the final of the Tampa, Fla., Invitational.

Louisville beat St. Louis on the road 76-64 as Westley Unself, who finished with 20, broke loose for 18 points in the second half.

Rick Roberson's 25 points paced Cincinnati to a 69-58 home court victory over Southern California. Harry Hall also got 25 to lead Wyoming over Oklahoma on the road, 82-71.

Pistol Pete Maravich flipped in 46 points on his home court to spark Louisiana State over Mississippi 81-68. LSU now has won four games, one more than all of last season.

Auburn beat Rutgers 70-62 in the consolation game of the Tampa Invitational. Miami of Ohio took third place in the Charlotte Invitational by defeating Rice 70-66 in overtime.

Dennis Cantrell's field goal in the last 31 seconds gave Miami, Fla., a 72-71 home squeaker over Brown. In other home court victories, Ohio State downed New Mexico State, 78-75, Utah State beat San Jose, 110-93, Montana took Fresno State, 88-72 and Kansas State humbled North Dakota State 79-52.

On the road, Ohio University edged Portland 67-65 and Wagner overcame Seton Hall 99-91.

On neutral courts, Duquesne whipped Kent State 78-63 at Canton, Ohio, and Arkansas defeated Centenary at Little Rock, Ark., 90-82.

Tiger Junior High Wins; Freshman Cagers Beaten

Circleville's freshman basketball team was handed its third loss of the season Tuesday, 40-25, at Chillicothe. J. A. Smith, while the junior high squad romped to a home court win, 40-29, over the visitors from the Ross county seat.

Trailing all the way, the Tiger frosh were behind 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, 16-9 at halftime and 25-18 when the third period was over.

The closest they got in the game was five points late in the third quarter.

The Tigers were unable to capitalize on opportunities at the foul line, making only seven of 25 chances for a 28 per cent accuracy average. Circleville cagers made 34 per cent of their shots from the field.

ROD KASSLER was the leading scorer for Circleville, making nine points on their field goals and three foul shots.

For the hosts, McGarran was the leading scorer with 10 points.

The local junior high squad had the advantage of the home court in their win. Don Valentine and Dave Truex teamed up to score 12 points apiece for the winners. Mahaffey, the leading point maker for J. A. Smith, notched nine points.

Other Tigers breaking into the scoring column were Kent Wolfe with six, Richie Speakman and Jim Neal four each and Terry Morrison, two.

The next game for the freshman cagers in Jan. 4 when they travel to Westfall. On that date, the junior high team, hosts Ashville.

The Circleville junior high squad has a 3-1 record. The freshman are 1-3 for the season.

Oakland Raiders Lead All the Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland's Western Division championship on Raiders clinched their title two weeks ago and haven't lost since October. It stands to reason that they are leading in more than the standings.

Statistics released by the American Football League today confirm that suspicion.

The Raiders lead the league in both overall offense and over-all defense. You can't get much better than that.

Princeton Beats C.H. Iron, 182-21

PRINCETON, La. (AP) — Princeton beat C. H. Iron of Benton by an amazing 182-21 Tuesday night in a high school basketball game.

At the half, Princeton was ahead 87-6.

Clarkie Smith was the top scorer with 40 points, while his brother Edward got 37.

In 1966, left-hander Peters took top honors with a 1.98 average while the right-handed Horlen finished second at 2.43. This season, according to the official figures announced Tuesday, it was Horlen, 19-7, who finished on top at 2.06 while Peters 16-11 took runner-up honors at 2.28.

Viking Frosh Romp, 64-20, Over Westfall

The Teays Valley freshmen basketball team romped to a 64-20 derision over Westfall Tuesday.

Bob Tucker scored 16 points for the winners and Dick Garren notched 12. Othe Vikings with good scoring efforts included Don Neff with nine, Van Gregg with eight, Brent Roof with seven and Jeff Helsner with six.

Perrill, Hinton and Henson scored two each for the winners.

For Westfall, Sines had a 12 point effort, Liston scored four, Larhmer and Kempton notched two each.

The winners were leading 24-2 at the end of the first period, 35-10 at halftime and 47-19 at the end of the third quarter.

The Viking frosh have a perfect 5-0 record for the season. They play visiting London Thursday in a South Suburban League game.

Four Gridders Share Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Fearsome Foursome of the Los Angeles Rams weren't the Defensive Players of the Week on the National Football League's final weekend of regular play, somebody must have been slugging John Unitas with a club Sunday.

Deacon Jones, Merlin Olsen, Roger Brown and Lamar Lundy put so much heat on Unitas that the Most Valuable Player in the NFL was thrown seven times in a 34-10 Ram victory.

For this reason all four players—not just one—share the week's defensive honor.

Charley Winner Signs New Pact

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charley Winner signed a new two-year contract as head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday, signaling open season on trades for the National Football League club.

William Bidwill, club vice president said Tuesday the 43-year-old Winner will be free to make player deals.

Winner indicated he was less than happy with the 40-man squad that finished third in the Century Division this season with a 6-7-1 mark. He charged some players didn't put out 100 per cent over the season.

Seals Beaten By Kings, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Before Tuesday night's National Hockey League battle at the Sports Arena, the Los Angeles Kings had scored just five goals in five games, had a 1-4 record over that span and had suffered three shutouts.

The slump ended Tuesday evening against the Oakland Seals as wing Brian Smith scored a pair of goals to lead the Kings to a 3-1 victory.

Circleville Hosts Teays Valley Southeastern, Westfall Set for Classic Cage Clash

The game of the year in class A basketball may well be played Friday at Westfall.

Southeastern, a state finalist for the past two seasons and undefeated in seven starts this year, invades the Mustang corral.

Another key game on the local schedule finds Teays Valley at Circleville. The doors at the Mill Street gymnasium where the tilt will be played will open at 6:20 p.m.

Capacity plus crowds are expected at both Westfall and Circleville with other action around the area at a minimum because of the Christmas holidays.

LAURELVILLE travels to Berne Union in a Thursday game. The contest was originally scheduled Friday but was switched by agreement of both schools involved.

Logan Elm is idle until the holiday tournament at Zane Trace High School Dec. 27 and 28. They meet Laurelville at 7 p.m. in the first game of the event while Huntington and Zane Trace tangle in the second tilt. The tourney championship and consolation game are slated the second night.

Reports from Southeastern are that this year's team is better than the state finalist squad of last year at this point in the season.

Last year the Panthers were struck by dissension among the players. However, coach Dave Angspurger ironed out the difficulties and his charges went on to win the Ross County title, sectional, district and regional tournaments before losing in the state Class A semifinals.

Gone from that team are Roger Skaggs, Don (Jake) Jordan, Mike Miller and Arlie Howard. Skaggs and Jordan were both starters for three years while Miller was a two year starter. Howard was the key sixth man on that team.

Back are Doug Hill, a 5-11 senior who Ohio University cage Coach Jim Snyder called the best player in the state class A tournament, and Ray Tackett.

LAST year Hill averaged plus points per game. Ray Tackett, Hill's running mate at guard the past two years, has been switched to forward this year.

The only starter on the squad over 6 feet is Ronnie Blanton, a 6-3 pivot man.

Teams that have fallen to Southeastern this year are Eastern, Laurelville, Zane Trace, Bishop Flaget, Huntington, Unioto, and Paint Valley.

Westfall, fielding a veteran starting quintet and with junior Gene Carfrey developing into a fine sixth man in the offense, has aspirations for an excellent season.

The Mustangs are unbeaten. In addition to the home court edge, they will have a size advantage, with 6-4 Tony Lightle at pivot, 6-2 Ed Cornwell and Denny Fletcher at forwards, 6-1 Charles Palmer and 6-0 Andy Hamman at guards. All but Fletcher were starters last year.

Carfrey can move into the lineup and bolster the scoring at any position. Coached by SALEM, Va. (AP) — Dwight Durante, at 5-foot-4, perhaps the smallest player in college basketball, scored 26 points to lead Catawba to an 84-69 victory over Milligan Tuesday night.

Paul Hoskins, the Mustangs' strong point is a sticky man-to-man defense.

TEAYS Valley coach Russ Gregg has been substituting frequently this year as he searches for a solid starting quintet and at the same time hopes to give sophomore and junior cagers on the squad game experience.

Walt Newman, a junior transfer student at Teays Valley, has been one of the bright spots in the Viking starting squad, as has been Rex Gregg, son of the coach. The latter is a sophomore.

But the Vikings lack consistency in scoring from other cagers on the varsity squad. None of the starting five is over 6 feet tall.

Buckeyes Smash New Mexico State Win String 78-75

Ohio State basketball coach Fred Taylor planned to use 6-foot-5 Steve Howell as his sixth man again this year. Forget it.

The 29 points Howell poured in Tuesday night in the Buckeyes' 78-75 victory over previously undefeated New Mexico State is one reason. The other is some more bad news about Jeff Miller, the starter from last season that Howell has been filling in for so far.

Taylor revealed Tuesday that Miller's bad knee has been injured a third time, in an exercise meant to strengthen it, and that surgery or a season-long rest now seems probable. The junior from Lima sees a doctor today.

Howell, built like a football player, continued to look like the Buckeyes' best outside shooter as he matched the point output of New Mexico State's Ernie Turner.

In other major games involving Ohio teams Tuesday night, Cincinnati got another strong performance from Rick Roberson in defeating Southern California 69-58, Ohio University nipped Portland on the road 67-65, Miami took third place in the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational with a 70-66 overtime victory over Rice, and Duquesne handed Kent State a 78-63 setback.

Ohio State's Bill Hosket was also at his best against the Aggies from New Mexico, who had beaten highly rated Purdue Monday night. The Buckeye captain had 22 points, 14 rebounds and 10 assists. Sophomore Dave Sorenson added 21 points.

Cincinnati's Roberson scored

25 points in the game that saw the Bearcats outbrebound and outshoot the tall Trojans.

Ohio University's Mark McClintick made a jump shot with one second to play and Fred Cluff totaled 19 points for the Bobcats in their win; Fred Foster scored 30 and put Miami ahead to stay with a free throw in the overtime with Rice, and Bill Zopf's 23 points ruined Kent.

In other games, Akron got 25 points from Bob Smith and 22 from Jerry Sloan in a 66-43 romp over San Francisco State; Harvey Hopson scored 31 for Baldwin-Wallace but the Yellow Jackets bowed to Detroit 103-94; Ashland's go-slow Eagles shut out Northwood of Indiana for nine minutes and went on to a 66-34 victory with the help of John Schetzle's 24 points; John McElroy scored 19 points for Youngstown in an 84-64 breeze over Hiram, and Capital beat Malone 113-78 in the Spring Arbor, Mich., Tournament.

AFL All Star Team Chosen

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Six members of Oakland's Western Division champions dominate the American Football League All Star team selected for The Associated Press by a panel of 27 sports writers and broadcasters from across the country and released today.

The Raiders' balance was demonstrated in the voting by three-man committees from each of the AFL's nine cities with three Oakland players named to the offensive team and three to the defensive squad.

Heading the Oakland contin-gent is quarterback Daryle Lamonica, who has piloted the Raiders to their first divisional crown and leads the league in passing. He has thrown 29 touchdown passes, tops in the league.

Joining Lamonica on the offensive squad from Oakland are tight end Billy Cannon, who switched from running back two years ago and developed into a top pass catcher this season, and Jim Otto, a heavy choice at center.

In the backfield with Lamonica are Boston's muscular Jim Nance, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards for the second straight season, and Kansas City's evasive Mike Garrett at the running backs.

Fleet Lance Alworth of San Diego was a nearly unanimous choice at flanker and George Sauer of New York, the AFL's top pass catcher, won the split end job. Nance and Alworth are repeaters from last year.

Up front on the offensive unit, Kansas City's Jim Tyrer and San Diego's Ron Mix, both repeaters, are the tackles, with San Diego's Walt Sweeney and Houston's Bob Talamini nailing down the guard spots.

Defensively, Oakland, Houston and Kansas City dominated the voting with three berths each.

Selected from the Raiders were mammoth Ben Davidson, a 6-foot-7 defensive end, tackle Tom Keating and corner back Kent McCloughan.

Houston placed corner line-backer George Webster, the only rookie to make the team, defensive end Pat Holmes, and corner back Miller Farr, who returned three of his eight interceptions for touchdowns.

Picked from Kansas City were tackle Buck Buchanan, a massive 6-7, 287 pounds, line-backer Bobby Bell and safety Johnny Robinson.

Nick Buoniconti, Coston's middle line-backer, and Buffalo safety George Salmes are the other defensive picks.

Buchanan, Buoniconti, Bell, Robinson and McCloughan all are repeaters from last year's defensive team.

Over-all, there were 14 players chosen from the Western Division and eight from the Eastern Division. Oakland had six selections, Kansas City five, Houston four, San Diego three, Boston two and New York and Buffalo one each.

Only Miami and Denver, tailenders in the Eastern and Western Divisions, failed to place a man on the first team.

Viking Frosh Romp, 64-20, Over Westfall

The Teays Valley freshmen basketball team romped to a 64-20 derision over Westfall Tuesday.

Bob Tucker scored 16 points for the winners and Dick Garren notched 12. Othe Vikings with good scoring efforts included Don Neff with nine, Van Gregg with eight, Brent Roof with seven and Jeff Helsner with six.

Davidson Keeps Pounding Beats Temple In Cage Tilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Some folks laughed when Davidson, beaten in 12 of 27 games last season, made the Top Ten in The Associated Press preseason poll in college basketball.

They're not laughing any more at the Southern Conference Wildcats, who have won seven of eight games and lost only to third-ranked Vanderbilt by two points 81-79 in overtime.

The Wildcats, sixth-ranked in this week's AP poll, made previously unbeaten Temple their latest victims in the final of the Charlotte, N.C., Invitational Tournament Tuesday night.

Paced by the 6-foot-6 Mike Maloy, a sophomore from New York City who was voted the Most Valuable Player of the tourney, the Wildcats downed the Owls from Philadelphia 63-60.

Maloy made only 11 points, but his floor generalship was superb and drew praise from Coach Lefty Driesell. "He's so quick, he's unreal," Driesell said. "He has every move in the book under the hoop."

Fifth-ranked Indiana, Duke, St. Bonaventure, Louisville, Cincinnati, Wyoming and Louisiana

Knicks Top Cincy Royals

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Robertson and Bill Bradley have met for the first time as professionals, and neither has gone out on a limb in discussing the other's ability.

The confrontation came Tuesday night, and Bradley's New York Knickerbockers beat Robertson's Cincinnati Royals 133-118 in a National Basketball Association game at Madison Square Garden.

"What can you say," the veteran Robertson commented when asked about Bradley.

"Time will tell. A year from now you can ask me."

Asked what he thought of Robertson, Bradley smiled, turned to teammate Dick Barnett and asked, "What do you think of Oscar Robertson?"

"Then the $500,000 rookie added:

"He's the greatest basketball player in the world."

Another rookie — Earl Monroe — and veteran — Ray Scott — put on quite a show in Baltimore, but in this instance they were on the same team. The two combined for 59 points and led the Bullets past St. Louis 117-98. In the only other NBA game, the Boston Celtics topped the Seattle SuperSonics 118-114.

Tiger Junior High Wins; Freshman Cagers Beaten

Circleville's freshman basketball team was handed its third loss of the season Tuesday, 40-25, at Chillicothe. J. A. Smith, while the junior high squad romped to a home court win, 40-29, over the visitors from the Ross county seat.

Trailing all the way, the Tiger frosh were behind 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, 16-9 at halftime and 25-18 when the third period was over.

The closest they got in the game was five points late in the third quarter.

The Tigers were unable to capitalize on opportunities at the foul line, making only seven of 25 chances for a 28 per cent accuracy average. Circleville cagers made 34 per cent of their shots from the field.

ROD Kasser was the leading scorer for Circleville, making nine points on their field goals and three foul shots.

For the hosts, McGarrhan was the leading scorer with 10 points.

The local junior high squad had the advantage of the home court in their win. Don Valentine and Dave Truex teamed up to score 12 points apiece for the winners. Mahaffey, the leading point maker for J. A. Smith, notched nine points.

Other Tigers breaking into the scoring column were Kent Wolfe with six, Richie Speakman and Jim Neal four each and Terry Morrison, two.

The next game for the freshman cagers in Jan. 4 when they travel to Westfall. On that date, the junior high team, hosts Ashville.

You don't have more than a minute to lose.

Or gain. We'll give you that guarantee when you buy an Accutron® timepiece. It'll be accurate to within a minute a month. An average of two seconds a day. Other watches have their own notions about how long a day should last. Sometimes they shorten it to 23 hours and 56 minutes. Or make it last longer than the usual 24 hours. Accutron doesn't believe in making time. Or losing it. Just keeping it.

The old-fashioned balance wheel principle is used in all watches, not the Accutron movement. The Accutron tuning fork makes possible the first guarantee of accuracy ever given.

ACCUTRON CALENDAR "V" 14K gold filled, waterproof, sweep second hand, calendar window. Gift applied markers on gilt or silver dial. Luminous dots and hands. $175.00

EVENLY-MATCHED—The climax to all the college Bowl Games comes New Year's night, Jan. 1, in Miami when Tennessee (9-1) goes against Oklahoma (also 9-1) in the Orange Bowl. Tennessee, led by quarterback Dewey Warren, who completed 78 passes out of 132 thrown for 1,053 yards; Richmond Flowers, star flanker who caught 41 passes, and tailback Walter Chadwick, who gained 645 yards rushing, lost their opener to U.C.L.A. and won the rest of their games. Oklahoma, loser only to Texas by two points, features the quarterbacking of Bob Warmack, who completed 80 of 151 passes for 1,136 yards, back Steve Owens, who has 808 yards rushing, and offensive guard Bob Kalsu.

Reds, White Sox Trade Heavily

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox finished fourth in their respective baseball pennant races last season. But they're well in the lead in the number of new players acquired through trades and purchases since the close of the 1967 campaign.

Cincinnati has picked up eight players. The White Sox, with General Manager Ed Short calling the shots, aren't short of new faces, either. They have seven, top figure in the American League.

The Reds obtained outfielder Mack Jones and pitcher Jay Ritchie from Atlanta, infielder Bob Johnson from the New York Mets, first baseman Fred Whitfield and pitcher George Culver from Cleveland, pitcher Ron Tompkins from the new Oakland A's and pitchers Bill Kelso and Jorge Rubio from California.

The White Sox made two six-player transactions. They obtained from Baltimore shortstop Luis Aparicio, outfielder Russ Snyder and first baseman-outfielder John Matias for pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. Then, in an interleague deal, they got outfielder Tommy Davis, pitcher Jack Fisher and Bill Wynne and catcher Buddy Booker from the New York Mets for outfielder Tommie Agee and infielder Al Weis.

Baltimore got two other new players for a total of five. They were pitcher John O'Donoghue and shortstop Gordon Lund from Cleveland.

The Indians acquired outfielder Tommy Harper from Cincinnati, pitchers Eddie Fisher and Bob Scott and outfielder John adelphia also got five players. New York's NL club got pitcher Al Jackson from St. Louis, first baseman-outfielder Art Shamsky from Cincinnati and catcher J. C. Martin from the White Sox in addition to Agee and Weis.

The Indians acquired outfielder Tommy Harper from Cincinnati, pitchers Eddie Fisher and Bob Scott and outfielder John Scruggs from Baltimore and outfielder Jose Cardenal from California.

The Phillies' new players are catcher Mike Ryan from Boston plus pitchers Woody Fryman, Harold Clem and Bill Laxton and infielder Don Money from Pittsburgh. The latter four came from Pittsburgh for pitcher Jim Bunning in the most recent trade last Saturday.

Four players each were acquired by Los Angeles and Houston. The Dodgers added shortstop Zoilo Versalles and pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant from Minnesota and infielder Paul Popovich and outfielder Jim Williams from the Chicago Cubs.

The Astros got pitcher Denny Lemaster and shortstop Denis Menke from Atlanta, pitcher Fred Gladding from Detroit and shortstop Hector Torres from California.

Each of the 20 big league clubs, except St. Louis and San Francisco, acquired at least one new player.

The Cards, though, got a new general manager, Bing Devine, who replaced Stan Musial.

Pipers Smash Jersey, 146-124

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Pittsburgh Pipers, moving up fast on the front-running Minnesota Muskies in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division, made their ninth straight victory one of their best.

The Pipers scored a league record 146 points in downing New Jersey 146-124 Tuesday night to move one-half game behind the Muskies.

In other ABA games Tuesday, New Orleans edged Dallas 96-93 and Oakland squeezed past Indiana 129-128.

'Brief Lives' New Arrival In Broadway Theater Area

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP) — Time turns backward with gabby geniality and touches of intense authenticity in "Brief Lives," Monday night's arrival from London at Broadway's Golden Theater.

An entertainment oddity, its appeal seems chiefly for those with a consuming interest in 17th century England or quenchless enthusiasm for antique shop clutter.

The show is derived from the memoirs of John Aubrey, a long-neglected backstairs chronicler of that lusty era stretching from the days of Elizabeth to the nights of Charles II.

As the solo performer, Roy Dotrice gives a subtle, complex and compelling impersonation of Aubrey at 70 or so, telling it like it was with senile fervor.

The names of great and small are conjured from his rambling ragbag of recollection. Sir Walter Raleigh, wenching and dying; the doctor named Ricketts who gave his name to an ailment; William Penn, Will Shakespeare, the Puritans and a kaboodle of peevish long relegated to faded footnotes.

A lot of the best pieces ring with earthy candor and many separate bits seem hardly worth recall. But the magic of Aubrey, Dotrice and Patrick Garland, the man who brought the other two together by doing the adaptation and direction, is that the sum of their efforts is better than the parts.

Another major citation for contributing to the success of the evocative exercise must be awarded to Julia Trevelyan Oman. She has created a setting of magnificent chaos.

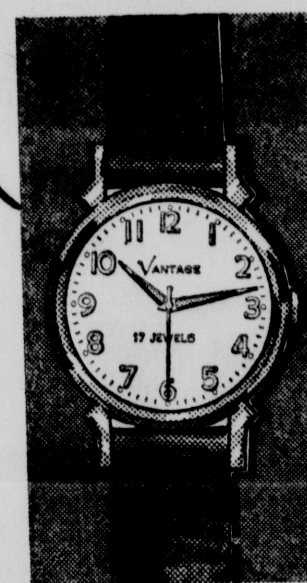

The stage of the Golden is crammed with the dusty bric-a-brac of a lifetime. Soaring shelves of books background a Bloomsbury lodging stuffed with everything from a dead bear to a flaming brazier upon which Dotrice hot-pokers a mug of claret and toasts a chicken.

To add to the verisimilitude, the marathon monologue is accompanied by assorted street sounds while the audience's nostrils are steadily twitched with incense of balsam.

"Brief Lives" is being produced here by David Susskind and Daniel Melnick, partners in many major television exhibits. Rather special, but welcome.

Bare Details Of Jimmie Rodgers Injury

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — A Los Angeles police investigator says singer Jimmie Rodgers apparently suffered his serious head injury as an off-duty police officer stood by. The officer had stepped Rodgers after seeing him driving erratically.

L. Pierce R. Brooks said an inquiry established that Rodgers fell early the morning of Dec. 1 as he stood talking to officer M.P. Duffy. He said Rodgers struck the back of his head, fracturing his skull.

Brooks said Duffy had stopped Rodgers by honking his horn and blinking his lights upon seeing the singer's car making U-turns on the freeway.

"There was no one person responsible for Mr. Rodgers' falling," Brooks said. He added that there was "no criminality" involved.

Brooks said Rodgers' head could have struck the asphalt or a large metal manhole cover.

He said an investigation is continuing into the actions of Duffy and two on-duty uniformed policemen he summoned to the scene.

Tuesday's disclosures were the first indication that police knew how Rodgers had been injured. A police statement Dec. 7 said officers had checked him and left him in his car, apparently asleep.

Rodgers subsequently underwent two operations to remove pressure on his brain. In one of them a section of his skull was removed.

An administrator at Glendale Community Hospital said today Rodgers is "perfectly lucid" but "not out of danger yet." He said Rodgers recalls nothing of the events surrounding his injury and has not been interviewed by police.

Brooks refused to say if he knew how Rodgers got back in his car, where he was found by a friend about an hour later.

Williams Clerk Broke

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — Williams County Clerk of Courts Harold M. Thomas and a deputy clerk remained the only staff members at work today in an office which Thomas said had only $65 left to finish the year's business.

Thomas closed the office's title division Monday, curtailed nearly all services and put three full time employees and a part-time worker on enforced vacations.

County commissioners charged that Thomas had failed to keep operating expenses within his budget and said the lack of funds was "entirely Thomas' problem."

Thomas resigned Dec. 4, effective Dec. 31, and said he plans to enter the insurance business.

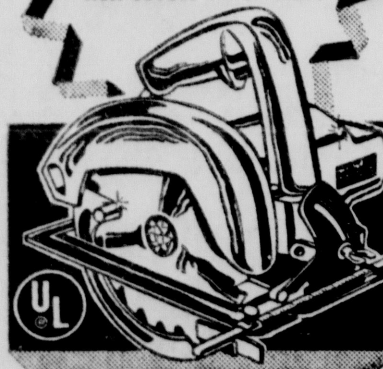

DeLaine, Haggard Vic in Election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Phillip M. DeLaine a former Cleveland policeman, and Republican Paul T. Haggard are the opponents in a special election Jan. 9 to fill the seat in the Ohio House of Representatives vacated by Mayor Carl E. Stokes.

DeLaine defeated five other candidates in the Democratic primary Tuesday in District 34 on Cleveland's East Side. Haggard, a deputy county auditor, had no opposition in the primary.

Man Saved From Well Cave-In

APEX, N.C. (AP) — John Lipscomb emerged unhurt from a well where he had been buried for six hours Tuesday. "Thank You, Lord Jesus, I was praying all the time," he said.

A smile wrinkled the mud-stained face of the 62-year-old laborer as he was hauled from the 20-foot well which had caved in while Lipscomb was at the bottom cleaning it.

Lipscomb was led about a dozen feet to a stretcher where he removed his jacket and lay down, his workman's helmet toppling from his head.

His wife grabbed the hat and clutching it to her breast said: "They say this old hat saved my man's life."

Rescue workers had said that the helmet protected Lipscomb from injury and allowed him to keep rock and clay away from his face so he could breathe.

Lipscomb was working in the well alone when the walls caved in, burying him under about five feet of bricks and mud.

Ben McCoy, one of two men working on the surface, said he heard a rumble when the sides caved in. He looked down and "Lipscomb was gone. I couldn't see anything but dirt."

The workers summoned assistance. The Wake County sheriff's office, the Apex fire department and the Raleigh rescue squad and volunteers joined in the rescue.

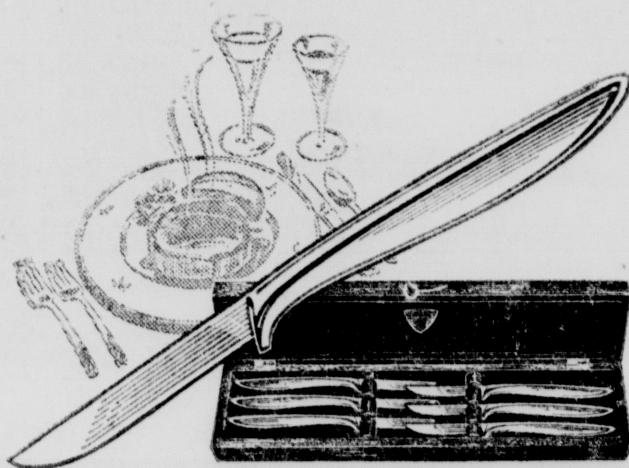

Soon they succeeded in worming a hose through the debris to Lipscomb and started pumping oxygen to the trapped man. After about four hours the workers uncovered Lipscomb's head.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

By EDITH LEDERER

Influenza and influenza-like respiratory infections are putting a bug in Christmas preparations from Oklahoma to Maryland.

Across the Midwest, mid-South and mid-Atlantic states, outbreaks of various respiratory ailments—many as yet unidentified—have forced schools to close early and businesses to curtail activity.

Canton Bank Merger Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A merger application sought by the First National Bank of Canton, Ohio, and the Canton National Bank was denied Tuesday by the comptroller of the currency.

Comptroller William B. Camp said the "anticompetitive effects of this merger must condemn it unless the benefits which will rebound to the public interest . . . redeem it." He said they would not.

DeCoursey Squire Sent to Hospital

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati Workhouse physician concluded that a prolonged hunger strike could only prove harmful to DeCoursey Squire and she was recently transferred to Longview Hospital.

Miss Squire fasted at the workhouse for 11 days after being arrested during a mass sit-in at the Armed Forces Industrial Center here Dec. 7.

Toddler Drowns

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Mark Willmon, 3, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Willmon of near Batavia, drowned Tuesday after he fell into a cistern on a farm here, police said.

Though the "bugs" have left some last-minute Christmas shoppers with sore throats, fever, aches and chest pains, their arrival was not totally unexpected.

Last summer, the government's Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta forecast an influenza epidemic in the eastern United States this winter.

Unfortunately, the prediction appears to be coming true. Flu in the Far West is either nonexistent or below normal. In the East and Midwest, however, several epidemics and near-epidemics are already in full swing.

In Michigan Asian flu was reported reaching near epidemic proportions in the southeastern corner of the state—the populous Detroit area—after soaring close to epidemic levels in the rest of lower Michigan, state health authorities reported.

Several thousand school children in scattered parts of the state were out of class because of the ailment and schools in some sections of the state closed indefinitely because of flu outbreaks.

Officials said, however, that the end of the outbreak was expected soon. It began several weeks ago at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, where, officials said, several thousand students missed classes because of illness due to Asian flu virus.

Alabama Health Officer Ira L. Myers said his state was in the throes of an influenza epidemic, with 2,761 cases of influenza and 10,418 cases of influenza-like respiratory disease this week.

Dr. R. H. Hutcheson, Tennessee commissioner of public health, described the flu situation in hardest-hit Nashville and Knoxville as a "good-size epidemic. But it's just what we've been expecting since July."

In Culpeper County, Va., schools closed for Christmas vacation Tuesday—two days early—after 11 per cent of the teachers and 637 of 4,000 students were absent with flu. Dr. R. S. Legarde, county health officer, labeled the outbreak an "epidemic of viral respiratory diseases."

State Health Department described the Asian flu outbreak in the northeast city of Bartlesville as the worst in the nation.

Dr. LeRoy Carpenter, director of the Epidemiology Division, said the State Health Department was taking blood tests of suspected cases in other cities "just to make sure we know about an outbreak as quickly as possible."

In Bergen County, N.J., medical authorities said Tuesday there appeared to be a minor epidemic of Asian flu. Absenteeism in the northern New Jersey county's 16 schools ranged from 10 to 35 per cent.

"The state is full of something," said Dr. Arnold M. Reeve, of the Iowa State Health Department. Though tests to pin down the bug have not been completed, he said it looked like a virus other than influenza.

An influenza-like virus running through the Washington, D.C., area raised the absentee rate in some schools to nearly 30 per cent and cut the staffs of some federal agencies. The Department of Agriculture reported Monday that the number of visits to its health unit hit a peak.

In Maryland, a suspected influenza outbreak in Allegany County brought the absentee rate at Allegany High School to a peak of 35 per cent last Friday.

The high school in Hot Springs, Ark., closed for two days last week after 292 of the 464 students were absent with what State Health Department officials described as an outbreak of mild respiratory illness.

Large-scale flu infections and respiratory illness brought early Christmas vacations to some elementary and high school youngsters in McCook, Neb.; Barnwell, Calhoun and Horry Counties, S.C.; and Madison County and Royston, Ga.

College students at Peru State College in Nebraska and Sullivan County Community College in Fallsburg, N.Y., were also sent home with earlier-than-usual holiday vacations after widespread outbreaks of respiratory infections.

In Louisiana, Minnesota, the New York metropolitan area, Atlanta, northeast Georgia and Dade County, Fla., respiratory ailments were also reported on the upswing.

As for business, Dr. Joseph Bistowish, director of the Nashville (Tenn.) Health Department, said many firms had been hurt by absenteeism. "In fact, we've had quite a few missing from our offices at the health department because of the flu."

Bare Details Of Jimmie Rodgers Injury

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — A Los Angeles police investigator says Jimmie Rodgers apparently suffered his serious head injury as an off-duty police officer stood by. The officer had stepped Rodgers after seeing him driving erratically.

L. Pierce R. Brooks said an inquiry established that Rodgers fell early the morning of Dec. 1 as he stood talking to officer M.P. Duffy. He said Rodgers struck the back of his head, fracturing his skull.

Brooks said Duffy had stopped Rodgers by honking his horn and blinking his lights upon seeing the singer's car making U-turns on the freeway.

"There was no one person responsible for Mr. Rodgers' falling," Brooks said. He added that there was "no criminality" involved.

Brooks said Rodgers' head could have struck the asphalt or a large metal manhole cover.

He said an investigation is continuing into the actions of Duffy and two on-duty uniformed policemen he summoned to the scene.

Tuesday's disclosures were the first indication that police knew how Rodgers had been injured. A police statement Dec. 7 said officers had checked him and left him in his car, apparently asleep.

Rodgers subsequently underwent two operations to remove pressure on his brain. In one of them a section of his skull was removed.

An administrator at Glendale Community Hospital said today Rodgers is "perfectly lucid" but "not out of danger yet." He said Rodgers recalls nothing of the events surrounding his injury and has not been interviewed by police.

Brooks refused to say if he knew how Rodgers got back in his car, where he was found by a friend about an hour later.

Williams Clerk Broke

BRYAN, Ohio (AP)—Williams County Clerk of Courts Harold M. Thomas and a deputy clerk remained the only staff members at work today in an office which Thomas said had only $95 left to finish the year's business.

Thomas closed the office's title division Monday, curtailed nearly all services and put three full time employees and a part-time worker on enforced vacations.

County commissioners charged that Thomas had failed to keep operating expenses within his budget and said the lack of funds was "entirely Thomas' problem."

Thomas resigned Dec. 4, effective Dec. 31, and said he plans to enter the insurance business.

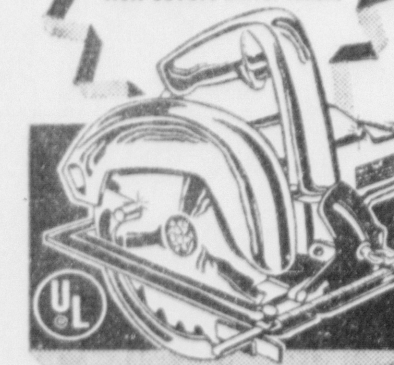

DeLaine, Haggard Vie in Election

CLEVELAND (AP) — Phillip M. DeLaine, a former Cleveland policeman, and Republican Paul T. Haggard are the opponents in a special election Jan. 9 to fill the seat in the Ohio House of Representatives vacated by Mayor Carl B. Stokes.

DeLaine defeated five other candidates in the Democratic primary Tuesday in District 44 on Cleveland's East Side. Haggard, a deputy county auditor, had no opposition in the primary.

Man Saved From Well Cave-In

APEX, N.C. (AP) — John Lipscomb emerged unhurt from a well where he had been buried for six hours Tuesday. "Thank You, Lord Jesus, I was praying all the time," he said.

A smile wrinkled the mud-streaked face of the 62-year-old laborer as he was hauled from the 20-foot well which had caved in while Lipscomb was at the bottom cleaning it.

Lipscomb was led about a dozen steps to a stretcher where he removed his jacket and lay down, his workman's helmet toppling from his head.

His wife grabbed the hat and clutching it to her breast said: "They say this old hat saved my man's life."

Rescue workers had said that the helmet protected Lipscomb from injury and allowed him to keep rock and clay away from his face so he could breathe.

Lipscomb was working in the well alone when the walls caved in, burying him under about five feet of bricks and mud.

Ben McCoy, one of two men working on the surface, said he heard a rumble when the sides caved in. He looked down and "Lipscomb was gone. I couldn't see anything but dirt."

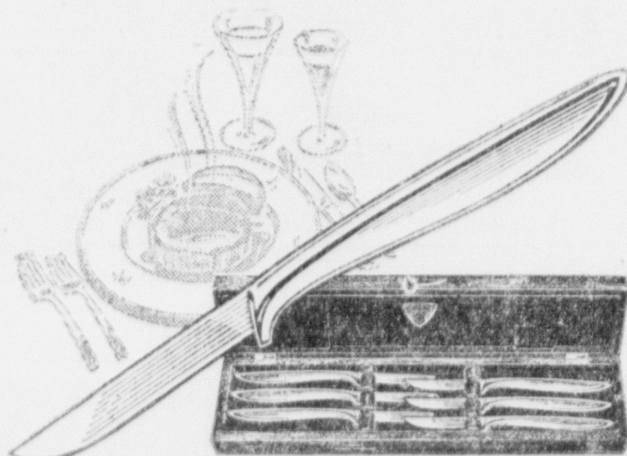

The workers summoned assistance. The Wake County sheriff's office, the Apex fire department and the Raleigh rescue squad and volunteers joined in the rescue.

Soon they succeeded in worming a hose through the debris to Lipscomb and started pumping oxygen to the trapped man. After about four hours the workers uncovered Lipscomb's head.

Influenza and influenza-like respiratory infections are putting a bug in Christmas preparations from Oklahoma to Maryland.

Across the Midwest, mid-South and mid-Atlantic states, outbreaks of various respiratory ailments—many as yet unidentified—have forced schools to close early and businesses to curtail activity.
